All praise is due to Allah with Whose grace all good deeds are realized and the Salah and Salam of Allah be upon His Messenger, his family, his companions and all his loyal followers.

It has been reported by Abū Hurayrah (radiyAllahu ‘anhu) that the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

“He who does not thank the people does not thank Allah.”

[Sunan Abū Dāwūd, 4793]

Hence, I would like to extend my thanks to the team members of “Barakah House” for their outstanding endeavors and participation in translating and proofreading this book.

All praise is due to Allah; we praise Him, we seek His aid, we seek forgiveness His forgiveness and we ask Him to guide us. We take refuge in Him from the evil of our own selves and from our evil deeds. Whoever Allah guides, none can lead astray and whoever He misguides, none can guide. I bear witness that there is no true deity save Allah with no associate and that Muhammad is His slave and messenger.

O you who have believed, fear Allah as He should be feared and do not die except as Muslims [in submission to Him].

O mankind, fear your Lord, who created you from one soul and created from it its mate and dispersed from both of them many men and women. And fear Allāh through whom you ask one another, and the wombs. Indeed Allāh is ever, over you, an Observer.

[An-Nisā' : 1]

O you who have believed, fear Allāh and speak words of appropriate justice. He will [then] amend for you your deeds and forgive you your sins. And whoever obeys Allāh and His Messenger has certainly attained a great attainment.

[Al-Ahzāb: 70-71]

The most veracious discourse is the book of (Qur'ān) and the best of all guidance is the guidance of Muḥammad (ﷺ). The worst of affairs are the heresies (those new things which are introduced into the religion), every heresy is an innovation and every innovation is misguidance and all misguidance is in the Fire.

Allāh says in His perfected revelation:

O you who have believed, protect yourselves and your families from a Fire whose fuel is people and stones, over which are [appointed] angels, harsh and severe.

[Al-Tahrim : 6].
The commander of the believers, ‘Alî ibn Abî Ṭâlib (radyAllahu ‘anhu), said: “Teach yourselves and your families all that is good.”\(^1\)

Teaching the good to ourselves and our families is one of the most important pillars that would form the foundation upon which early Islamic society was structured. The Muslim nation today cannot prosper without it as it will only be rectified by that which rectified its early part. After all, the pillars of these teachings were set up by the teacher of humanity, sent by Allah as a mercy for the worlds, the teacher of good to the people, Muḥammad, the messenger of Allah (ﷺ).

Just look how he warns his beloved daughter Fāṭima, the first to follow him after his death: “O Fāṭima, daughter of Muḥammad! Save yourself from the Fire, for I cannot protect you from Allah at all.”\(^2\)

The following blessed admonishment that gathers all good in it shines forth brightly when he gives it to his cousin ‘Abdullâh ibn ‘Abbâs (radyAllahu ‘anhumâ) the day he was riding behind him: “O Boy - or little boy -, shall I not teach you some words that Allah will make beneficial for you?” I said, “Please do so!” He said, “Safeguard Allah and He will safeguard you. Safeguard Allah and you will find Him in front of you. Be conscious of Allah at times of ease and He shall look after you when times are hard.

Al-Ḥâkim commented on this report: “Şâhîh, fulfilling the conditions of al-Bukhârî and Muslim though they did not relate it”, and this is the case.

\(^2\) Şâhîh Muslim: Book of Îmân, Chapter: His saying, “And warn your close relatives”, (204, 348), from Abû Hurayrah.
When you ask, ask Allāh, and when you seek aid, turn to Allāh. The pen has dried having written all that is to be. Should each and every created being try to harm you in a way that Allāh has not written for you, they will not be able to do so. Know that patience in the face of disliked things contains great good, victory comes with patience, relief follows hardship and difficulty and ease go hand in hand.’’’’3

From this wonderful admonishment Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍī Allāhu ‘anhumā) benefited greatly, becoming the great Imām that he was: the scholar of his time, the interpreter of the Qur’ān and the cultivator of our nation.

As for today, we are about to read the splendid admonishment of an Imām whose name is well known to all and who rightly deserves to be called the preacher of horizons and the pride of Iraq. Many indeed are the eyes that have shed tears after reading it, the hearts it hassoftened and great indeed is the benefit it contains. Through it the heedless wakes up, the ignorant comes to know and the sinner decides to repent. How excellent is his speech and oratory! He is the one who says: “Be merciful to a tear that is dropping for what it missed from you, and a heart burning due to your farness from it. My God, my God! My knowledge of Your grace makes me avid for You, my certainty of Your Ascendancy [i.e. violent punishment] makes me lose hope of You, and every time I lift the veil of yearning to Your presence, my shyness of You does not allow me. My God! To You and by You I humble myself, and towards You I direct.”

May Allāh have mercy on Ibn al-Jawzī, be pleased with him and

gather us all as members of the saved and victorious group.

Glory be to You, O Allāh, and You we praise. I bear witness that there is no God worthy of worship except You, seeking Your forgiveness and repenting to You.

1 May Allāh guide me and you as we read the following words of al-Ḥāfiẓ Ibn al-Jawzī in Ṣaid al-Khāṭir, p. 236 and contemplate on how he was: ‘I sat down one day and looked around me, saw more than 10 000 people, emotions were high and some were shedding tears. I thought to myself: ‘How will you be if they achieve salvation and you don’t?’ This made me cry out: ‘My Lord and deity! Should You sentence me to be punished tomorrow, do not let them know of this! I ask this not for me but in order for them not to doubt Your grace and say: ‘Does He punish someone who calls to Him?’” cf. Ibn Ṣabīḥ, Lāḥa’if al-Ma‘ārif, p. 171 for more information.
Methodology of Verification and Examination

In this edition of the book I have done the following:

1. Referencing the Qur’ānic verses.
2. Referencing each ḥadīth attributed to the Prophet (ﷺ) and mentioning its level of authenticity. If a ḥadīth can be found in one or both of Bukhārī and Muslim, I have sufficed with attributing the ḥadīth to them as this automatically indicates that the ḥadīth is authentic. This is also the methodology of al-Ḥāfiz al-‘Irāqī in his critical ḥadīth analysis of Ihya’ Ulum al-Din. These notes are brief in order to ensure that the reader doesn’t get distracted from the actual content of the book.
3. Including biographies of the famous people mentioned in the book and mentioned some of their life-conditions.
4. Adding a heading for each section of the book as appropriate.
5. Commenting on some parts of the text as needed. These comments revolve around asceticism, academic notes, and details of fine conduct.
6. Adding the vocals for the ḥadīths, other reports and poetry mentioned in the book as well as some individual words that occur in it. The copy I have relied on was printed by al-Matba‘a al-Salafiyya in Cairo. This book has been printed numerous times. al-Matba‘a al-Sunna al-Muḥammadīyya has done so with the verification work done by Sh. Ḥāmid al-Fata, may Allāh have mercy on him, and this print can be found in the Min Dafā‘in al-Kunūz collection. We also have the al-Matba‘a al-Salafiyya, Cairo print, which was worked on by Sh. Muḥibb al-Dīn al-Khāṭīb, may Allāh have mercy on him, the Maktaba Hamidū, Alexandria print with the verification work done by Dr. Fu‘ād ‘Abd al-Mun‘īm Aḥmad. There is also the print of al-Maktaba al-Islāmi with the verification of Dr. Mirwān al-Qabbānī, among others.

THE BIOGRAPHY OF THE AUTHOR

al-Ḥāfiz Abū’l-Faraj ‘Abdu’l-Raḥmān
Ibn Jawzī

His Name and Lineage

His Birth and Upbringing

He was born in 509 or 510 A.H. Upon reaching adolescence, his aunt took him to Ibn Nāṣir from whom he learned a great deal. He came to love preaching while barely having reached the age of puberty, and from then started to give sermons to the people.

His father passed away when he was three years old so his aunt took care of him. His relatives were copper merchants so at times in hadith hearings he would write his name as ‘Abdu’l-Raḥmān ibn ‘Alī al-Ṣaffār [i.e. The Coppersmith].

His first ḥadīth hearing was in 156 A.H., as cited by al-Dhahabi. While still very young he became known as a religious person who would not socialise with anyone and would not eat from any food whose source was doubtful. He would only leave his house for prayer and he would not play with other kids. He was a person of very great determination and ambition and he spent all his life busy in seeking knowledge, preaching and authoring.

His Teachers

Al-Ḥāfiẓ Ibn al-Jawzī has already introduced his teachers in his book Mashyakhat Ibn al-Jawzī [i.e. the scholars who taught Ibn al-Jawzī] where he listed many of them. In the field of ḥadīth he benefitted from accompanying Ibn Nāṣir, in Qurʾān and Adab [i.e. Manners] from Sibt al-Khiyāṭ and Ibn al-Jawāliqī. He was the last to narrate from al-Dinawari and al-Mutawakkili.

His Students

Those who narrated from him include his son and companion,

His Children

His grandson Abū al-Muzfir and majority of those who wrote his biography say that he had three sons:

1. The oldest of them, Abū Bakr ‘Abd al-‘Azīz: He became a jurist in the school of Aḥmad and took knowledge from Abū al-Waqt, Ibn Nāṣir, al-Armawī and a group of his father's teachers. He traveled to the city of al-Musul where he preached and held sermons there for which he earned the people full acceptance. It is said that the family of al-Zahrazurī used to be jealous of him so they made someone put poison in his drink which caused him to die in al-Musul in 554 A.H. during the lifetime of his father.

2. Abū al-Qāsim Badr al-Dīn ‘Alī al-Nāṣikh: A separate biography of him will follow. He is the one his father is addressing in this book.

3. Abū Muḥammad Yūsuf Muḥyī al-Dīn: He was the most intelligent and youngest son as he was born in 580 A.H. He became involved in preaching and held sermons after his father, in which he excelled and by which he was looked up to by his confreres. He then was appointed to control and supervise markets of Baghdād, and after that he was assigned to deliver the messages of the caliphs to kings of other different regions peculiarly to the Ayyūbī family in the Shām region. He held the position of teacher in the institute of caliph al-Musta’sim in 640 A.H. till he was killed in prison in 656 A.H. by Hulaku who occupied Bagdād and destroyed it. His three sons Jāmal al-Dīn, Sharaf al-Dīn and Tāj al-Dīn were killed with him. He has authored many works, including Ma‘ādin al-Abri‘fi Tafsir al-Kitāb al-‘Aṣī‘ and al-Madhab al-Ahmadfi Madhab Ahmad. Unlike his brother Abu al-Qāsim, he was a dutiful son who honored his father and treated him well.

His grandson mentioned that Ibn al-Jawzī had many daughters; Rabi‘a, Sharaf al-Nisā‘, Zainab, Jauhara, Sitt al-‘Ulama al-Sughra and Sitt al-‘Ulama al-Kubrā.\(^{13}\)

His Uniqueness as a Preacher

Excellent indeed are the words of al-Ḥāfiz al-Dhahabī about him: ‘He was the leading figure in reminding the people and had no equal. He would recite pleasant poetry and eloquent prose spontaneously and his fine words and moving speech was abundant. There has never been anyone like him, not before him and not after him. He is the carrier of the flag of exhortation in its various forms. He had a pleasant appearance and a good voice and his talks had an impact on peoples’ hearts. His lifestyle in general was beautiful.

Al-Ḥāfīz Ibn Rajab said: ‘So we conclude that his gatherings of exhortation were one of a kind and nobody had heard of anything like them. They were gatherings of great benefit where the heedless would be reminded, the ignorant would come to know, the sinners would repent and the polytheists would become Muslims.’

His Works and Effects

Shaikh al-Islām Ibn Taymiyyah said in al-Awjiba al-Miṣrīyyah: ‘Shaikh Abū’l-Faraj excelled in many sciences and has many writings to his account. He would write on many topics, and as I counted his works I found them to be over one thousand in number. Afterwards, I found out about other works as well.’

Having mentioned some of his books, al-Dhahabī said: ‘I don’t know of a scholar who has written what this man has.’

The virtuous teacher ‘Abd al-Ḥamīd al-‘Alūjī has written a book on his works which was printed in Baghdād in 1965. In this piece 16 Thāhil Tabaqāt al-Hanabila, 1/410.

17 Thāhil Tabaqāt al-Hanabila, 1/415, al-Tāj al-Mukallal, #70.

he researched their titles, their copies and copies that had been printed and put them in alphabetic order. Whoever wishes to know about these books should refer to this work, keeping in mind that many of the manuscripts mentioned therein by al-ʿAlūjī have now been printed.

His Death

Ibn al-Jawzī passed away on Friday the 12th of Ramaḍān in 597 A.H and was buried at Bāb Ḥarb.¹⁹

The Biography of the Son

Abū’l-Qāsim Badr al-Dīn ‘Alī ibn al-Jawzī

Name, Lineage and Birth

He was born in Ramaḍān in 551 A.H. which was approximately 30 years before the birth of his brother Yūsuf Muḥyī al-Dīn.

The Biography of the Son

al-Kâmal ‘Alî ibn al-Wâqîdâh, Abû’l-Faraj ibn al-Zain, Abû al-‘Abbâs al-Fârûthî, Shams al-Dîn Muḥammad ibn Hubaira the resident of Bilbeis. He gave permission to Abû Naṣr ibn al-Shîrâzî and al-Qâdî the Ḥanbalî to narrate from him.

Ibn Nuqṭa said: ‘He relates with accuracy, is trustworthy, has memorized a lot and presents his ḥadîth in a fine manner. He heard the Sahîh of al-Isma‘îl from Yahya ibn Thabit.’

Upbringing and Life with his Father al-Imâm ibn al-Jawzî

One may ask why Ibn al-Jawzî chose to advice this son of his, and the answer can be easily found by looking into their life together. The author says in the preface that having found his son somewhat careless about seeking knowledge, he decided to write some words of encouragment to him to get him motivated. The scholars’ comments about him give us the following picture of Abû’l-Qâsim’s life with his father; al-Imâm Ibn al-Jawzî:

He was a good child from the very beginning to the point that Ibn al-Najjâr said: ‘He preached and gave sermons when he was a child.’ Al-Dhahâbî said: ‘He preached for some time and then quit. He was extraordinarily eloquent in much of his speech and pleasant in his jesting.’ This indicates that his upbringing and early childhood were like those of his father and his brother Muḥyî al-Dîn Yûsuf.

However, at some point before the birth of his brother Muḥyī al-Dīn Yūsuf in 580 A.H., he began to spend his days in idle play, leaving his previous activities as a preacher and wasting his time doing impermissible things. This is verified by al-Ḥāfiz Ibn al-Jawzi himself in this advice as he says: ‘Out of my sons only Abū’l-Qāsim is left, so I have asked Allāh to make him a pious successor and an ideal son who shall achieve success. However, I found him somewhat careless of studying Sacred Knowledge so I decided to write these words to him.’

He gave this excellent and also obligatory advice to his only son at the time, following the words of Allāh?

\[ُبِئِثَانِيَاللَّهِنِّ امَُتْرَارًا النِّسْكَرَةِ وَالْعَلِيمَةِ

O Believers! Protect yourselves and your families from fire...

[Sūrah at-Tahrim : 6]

Still, despite his efforts, it seems that his son did not take heed of his words which caused his father to abandon him and cut all relations between them. Some of the things that made him go to this extent were his son’s habit of engaging in impermissible activities and having friends who were busy with idle play and corrupt lifestyle. He had become a person inclined towards amusement and moral depravity.

Ibn al-Najjār said: ‘He was very much inclined towards amusement and dissipation, so he left preaching, became involved in impermissible affairs and kept corrupt company.’

The reader can perceive this as the text goes on and also see how the author forbids his son from doing these things.

We are now speaking of the life of a son with a father who was praised by al-Ḥāfīz al-Dhahābī in his words: ‘I do not think time will allow another one like him to appear.’ Therefore, it is especially sad to know how this son mistreated his father who in his advice obviously fears that his son will be cast into the Fire and the punishment of Hell. You see him fearing for his son lest he abandons something that is virtuous and good and yet still he continued to disrespect and mistreat him. So far he went that during the trial of his father, the times of trial in general and other times, he was harboring enmity towards him. Then, having got a hold of his books in Wasit he sold them for a pathetic price. This was related by Ibn al-Jawzī’s grandson Abū al-Muẓafīr from his grandfather: ‘Of sons he left behind ’Alī, and he is the one who took his father’s books and sold them for a slave-price unless somebody wanted to pay more. When his father was coming to Wasit he made his way to the books at night, took what he wanted and sold them for cheaper than the ink they were written in. His father had abandoned him years ago, so when he was tried he only showed enmity towards him.’

Ibn al-Najjār said: ‘I heard his father say: ‘Truly, I make duʿā against him every night before Fajr.’

Al-Dhahābī pointed this out as well, saying: ‘He would disrespect his father and has also been told to have profited from his books.\textsuperscript{27}

Later on, Allāh compensated al-Ḥāfiẓ ibn al-Jawzī with a dear companion and a dutiful son, the great scholar and teacher in the Caliph’s region, Yūsuf Muḥyī al-Dīn.

Ibn al-Siba‘ī said of him, ‘He is a virtuous scholar and a great, exemplary person. One of the great personalities in the field of Sacred Knowledge and famous for his virtues. The divine providence appeared on him from the very beginning of his childhood, so his father took care of him, teaching him Hadith and training him to deliver sermons ever since he was a child. He was given much good in the field and received complete acceptance from the people and the signs of grace in him were evident.’\textsuperscript{28}

This dutiful son, who from his young age worked in preaching, was also the reason why ibn al-Jawzī was saved when a calamity befell him in the late part of his life when some people slandered him before the Caliph al-Nāṣir. His loyal student, though still a youth, pleaded the Caliph’s mother to help his teacher and spiritual father so she interceded with the Caliph who then released the Shaikh. His loyal student; Yūsuf then came and took him away.\textsuperscript{29}

When al-Ḥāfiẓ ibn al-Jawzi was 80 years old he would study Sacred Knowledge together with him and did not return from

Wasit until he and his student completed reciting the Qurʾān in the ten ways in the presence of Ibn al-Baqillānī.\(^{30}\)

The Shaikh loved his loyal student Yūsuf very much to the level it is said that he has said: ‘When I was in Wāsit I completed the Qurʾān every day, but I did not read Sūrah Yūsuf due to my sadness of us being apart.’\(^{31}\) He also authored a book of his sermons called al-Majālis al-Yūsufīyya.\(^{32}\)

At this point, it is fitting to mention some of the good sides of ibn al-Jawzī’s undutiful son as well even though he did not take heed of the advice while his brother Yūsuf benefitted from it.

Al-Dhahabi said in his biography of Abū’l-Qāsim ‘Alī: ‘The virtuous and reliable shaikh...He was extraordinarily eloquent and knew the art of jesting...He was abstinent, serving his own self.’

Ibn Kathīr said: ‘He was a gentle and fine shaikh.’\(^{33}\)

Ibn al-Najjār said he used to write ten fascicles every day.

It is agreed that he prayed the funeral prayer for his father, as mentioned by ibn al-Jawzī’s grandson.

So we ask Allāh All-Mighty to have guided this son to repent before his death from that which occurred between him and his father, the Imam, the scholar, the preacher of horizons, Shaikh al-Islam and pride of ‘Irāq, Jāmal al-Dīn Abū’l-Faraj ‘Abdu’l-Rahmān ibn al-Jawzī. May Allāh have mercy on him, be pleased with his deeds and make him settled next to Him.

Death

Abū’l-Qāsim ‘Alī died in the last days of Ramaḍān in 630 AH.\textsuperscript{34}

\textsuperscript{34} Thail Tabaqāt al-Hanabila, 2/260.
The following is written on the cover of the al-Sunna al-Muḥammadīyya print which is included in the Min Dāfai‘in al-Kunūz collection and edited by Shaikh Muḥammad Ḥāmid al-Faqī as well as the cover of the al-Matba‘a al-Salafiyya, Cairo print, which was printed with the work of Shaikh Muḥibb al-Dīn al-Khaṭīb:

‘He gave this advice to his son whose kunya was Abū‘l-Qāsim, born in 580 A.H. and killed in the battle of the Tatar in Baghdād in 656 A.H.‘

It preceded, however, that the one killed in the battle of the Tatar along with his three sons was Yusuf Muḥyī al-Dīn. Al-Ḥāfīẓ Ibn Rajab says: ‘His happiness was sealed with martyrdom, may Allāh be pleased with him. Shaikh ‘Abd al-Ṣamad ibn Abū al-Jaysh said: ‘It was conveyed to me that Shaikh Muḥammad ibn Sakrān, the famous abandoner of vanities, said: ‘I saw the teacher of the regime Ibn al-Jawzī in my dream and said to him: ‘What did Allāh do with you?’ to which he replied: ‘Their swords compensated for our sins.’ May Allāh be pleased with him.”

in 630 A.H. in Ramadān and the one who was really killed in the battle of the Tatar was his brother Yūsuf Muḥyī al-Dīn, and this error should be noted.

AUTHOR’S PREFACE

The Reason Behind Writing this Exhortation

IN THE NAME OF ALLĀH, the All-Merciful, the Most Merciful. It is His aid that we seek.

All praise be to Allāh who produced our forefather from dirt and brought out his offspring from between the ribs and the backbone. Praise be to Him who made kinship and lineage a support for kinsfolk, blessed me with knowledge and the understanding of what is correct, cultivated me well as a child, protected me in my youth and gave me offspring who will hopefully be a reason for abundant rewards.

My Lord, make me an establisher of prayer, and [many] from my descendants. Our Lord, and accept my supplication. Our Lord, forgive me and my parents and the believers the Day the account is established.

[Sūrah Ibrāhīm : 40-41]

Once I learned the virtue of marriage and having children, I read the whole Qur’ān and then asked Allāh, the Most High, to give me ten children. He answered my request and gave me five boys and five girls. Two of the girls and four of the boys passed away and of the boys only Abu’l-Qāsim remains alive. I asked 36 In Siyar al-A‘lām al-Nubula', 21/375, al-Dhahabi mentions a book by Ibn al-Jawzī called al-Hattah 'ala Talab al-Walad. May Allah give us a pious progeny.

37 Know, may Allāh have mercy on us, that invocation after completing the Qur’ān is something our pious predecessors used to do. It was related about Anas that, “Whenever he would complete the whole Qur’ān he would gather his children and household and invoke Allāh for them.” This was related by al-Darimi (3474). It was related by Ibn Abi Dawūd with two ṣaḥīḥ chains as mentioned by the God fearing Imam al-Nawawi (al-Athkār, p. 191). Al-Ḥāfīz Ibn Hajr said (Al-Futuhat al-Rabbaniyya, 3/344): “This is a mauquf ṣaḥīḥ narration.’

38 This is problematic from two angles:
1. Al-Ḥāfīz Ibn al-Jawzī left two sons behind him: Yūṣuf Muḥyī al-Dīn (580-656) who was killed by Hulakū when he entered Baghdad and destroyed it and Abu’l-Qāsim 'Alī (551-630) who Ibn al-Jawzī is addressing in this book.
2. Ibn al-Jawzī had more than five daughters as his grandson Abū al-Muzāfir mentioned a sixth one as preceded.

The issue can be solved by looking at the times of death in this case. It seems that this was the situation at the time of his writing this book which was before his son Yūsuf Muḥyī al-Dīn was born in 580 and after his oldest son Abū Bakr
'Abdu'l-'Azīz, died in 554. It might also be that he had other children in addition to this Yusuf of his. This also clarifies the second problem as we can assume that he had one more daughter after writing this book.
Allāh to make him a pious successor and an ideal son who shall achieve success. However, I found him somewhat careless in his pursuit of Sacred Knowledge and so I decided to write him these words encouraging him to take my path in studying, and to direct him towards recoursing to the granter of accord, the Glorious and Most High. I acknowledge that none can abandon the one He gives success to and none can guide the one He leads astray, but Allāh, Most High, has also said:

وَنَوَاصَوْاْ بِالْحَقِّ وَنَوَاصَوْاْ بِالصَّبْرِ

And advised each other to truth and advised each other to patience.

[Sūrah al-‘Asr : 3]

فَذَّكَرُونَ نَفَاعَ الْذَّكْرِ

So remind if reminding is of benefit.

[Sūrah al-A‘lā : 9]

All power and strength is in Allāh’s hands alone, High and Mighty is He.

39 He is Abu’l-Qāsim Badr al-Dīn ‘Ali al-Nasikh. His biography has already been mentioned and we learned that he used to mistreat his father who was not pleased with his ways and finally abandoned him for years. He died in 630.
CHAPTER ONE

Encouragement and Intimidation Prior to This Beneficial Exhortation

YOU SHOULD KNOW, my son, may Allāh guide you to what is right, that man has been distinguished by intellect only so that he would act according to it. Bring it to the fore, use it in contemplation and spend time alone with yourself. You will conclude that you are a created being who has responsibilities and obligations and that the two angels are counting your every word and glance. Every breath is a step closer to death. The time we spend in this world is short, the time we are held in our graves is long, and the punishment for following our base desires is calamitous.

Where is the delight of yesterday? It has departed leaving only regret in its wake. Where is the soul’s desire? How many has it brought low, how many has it caused to slip and falter? People have only attained happiness by going against their lusts and desires. People have only become wretched by giving preference to the life of this world. Learn from the lives of kings and ascetics: where is the delight of the kings and where is the weariness of the ascetics? The only thing left is the abundant reward and beautiful mention for the pious, and the malicious words and calamitous punishment for the disobedient. It is as if those who starved never starved and those who ate to their fill never did so. Laziness in virtuous deeds is an evil companion indeed, and love of comfort causes regret greater than any enjoyment. So take heed and tire yourself for your self.

Know, that performing the obligatory and avoiding the forbidden is a must; whenever a person transgresses the limits let him beware of the Fire. Then know that aspiring to virtuous deeds is the highest goal of those who strive yet virtuous deeds vary in status and ranks; some people consider them to mean abstaining from worldly vanities and others think they stand for dedicating oneself for worship. The truth, however, is that complete virtue is nothing but joining knowledge with action. When these two are combined they raise a person to the level of truly knowing the Creator, Exalted and Most High, causing him to love, fear and yearn for Him. This is the true goal. People also vary in determination: not everybody who wants is wanted and not everybody who seeks finds what he is looking for. Still, everyone must strive to reach their goals because “everyone is eased towards what he is created for.”

Allāh is the source of all help.

\[\text{The wording of this sentence is a şahiḥ hadīth of the Prophet (ﷺ) from 'Ali ibn Abī Ṭalīb (al-Bukhārī: Kitab al-Jāna'īz, 1362, Chapter: Preaching by the grave while one's companions are sitting around oneself, 1362, Muslim: Kitab al-Qadr, Chapter: How man was created, 2647, 6).}\]
CHAPTER TWO

Obligatory Deeds, Virtuous Voluntary Deeds and High Motivation

THE FIRST THING A PERSON SHOULD pay attention to is knowing Allah, Most High, through His signs. It is obvious that anyone who sees how the sky has been raised and the earth laid out, and observes how perfectly different things - especially his own body - have been made, knows that every construction must have a maker and everything built must have a builder.

Then he should contemplate the proofs of the Messenger's (ﷺ) truthfulness. The greatest of which is the Qur'ān, which Allah declared to be inimitable by man even if they would only attempt to compose one Surah like it. Once he is certain of the Creator's existence and the truthfulness of the Messenger (ﷺ), he has to submit to the Sacred Law because not submitting to the Sacred Law is indicative of corrupt belief.

After this he must know the obligatory things related to Wuḍū' (ablution), Ṣalāh (prayer), Zakāh (obligatory alms) - if he has wealth
Obligatory Deeds, Virtuous Voluntary Deeds and High Motivation

-, Ḥajj (pilgrimage) and other obligatory actions. Once he has learned the obligatory parts of these, he must implement them.

A man of high ambition and strong determination should proceed and advance to the level of virtuous voluntary actions. He ought to busy himself with memorising the Qurʾān and studying its explanation along with the ḥadith of the Messenger (ṣ). He should also learn about his (ṣ) life, the life of his companions and the scholars who came after them. Let one adapt to higher ranks then advance to the highest rank.

He must also know enough Arabic grammar and commonly used language to speak properly.

Jurisprudence is the basis of all sciences, but reminding of the afterlife is the sweetest and most beneficial on a more general scale. Praise be to Allāh, for by His grace I have been able to compose some books in these fields that spare you the need of looking into the books of past scholars or any other books for that matter. This being the case, there is no need for you to search for books or to focus your efforts in authoring them. The ambition or aspiration of a person only falters or fails if it is weak and feeble; when it is lofty, you will never be satisfied with anything less.

Evidence tells you that high aspiration and determination is in man’s innate nature. It is only during certain times that these are weak, and they only need to be encouraged to be strong again. When you find yourself incapable, ask The Benefactor, and when you feel indolent, turn to the Giver of opportunity. You will only achieve good by obeying Him, and no good will bypass you except due to your disobedience. Have you not seen that obedient ones always reach their goals! And have you not seen that disobedient never succeed or achieve their goals! Have you not heard the poet say\textsuperscript{42}:

\begin{quote}
By Allāh, never have I come to visit you
Except that the earth compacted before me.
I have never resolved to leave your door
Except that I tripped over my garment's tail.

\textsuperscript{42} \textit{Siyar al-Ālām al-Nubulā'} (21/58), said to be poetry of al-Murtada, the father of al-Imām Abū al-Fadā’il Muḥammad ibn ‘Abd Allāh ibn al-Qāsim ibn Muẓfir al-Shāfi‘ī with \textit{yā la'il} in the place of \textit{Allāh}.
CHAPTER THREE

Fear Allāh and He Shall Teach You

OBSERVE, MY SON, the way you deal with the limits of Allāh and see how you can keep yourself within their bounds. Indeed, he who takes care of these limits is taken care of, and he who doesn’t, is left to himself. I shall now mention some of my experiences to you so that you may observe my striving and ask the Granter of success to bless me. Truly, most of the blessings I have been given have not been earned by me but rather they are conferred as a result of the planning of The Gentle One alone.

I remember myself as a child: A highly motivated six-year old sitting in class with older boys.43 The intellect I had been given 43 Al-Ḥāfīẓ ibn al-Jawzī about his high motivation in different places of Said al-Khāṭir and we shall mention some of it here (238): “Never has a man been tried with anything greater than his high ambitions. This is because a person who has high ambitions will choose the highest goals and it may be that he doesn’t have enough time to achieve them or his instruments are too weak so he remains in constant suffering. I have been given this ambition in some regards and suffer because of it. I am not saying that I wish it would have not been given to me, for the sweeter the life the less the intellect; and an intelligent man does not purchase additional pleasure for deficient intellect.” He also said (239):

superseded that of old men. I do not recall myself playing on the road with other kids or ever laughing out loud.

When I was seven or so, I attended the gatherings in the Masjid. I would not sit in a circle of mere wordplay, but searched for a hadith scholar who would narrate about the Prophet’s (ﷺ) life. I would memorize everything he said, then go back home and write it down. I was blessed for being granted my teacher Abū al-Faḍl ibn Nāṣir, may Allāh bestow His Mercy upon him, who would take me to different scholars and let me hear the Musnad of İmām

“I looked at my high ambition and was amazed by it: I want to gain knowledge of things I’m sure I can never gain knowledge of because I would love to learn every single science in great detail. Truth is, however, that learning just a portion of that takes more than a lifetime.” He also tells how he still had these ambitions as a grownup (250, 251): “I was given an extremely high ambition. I grew up and never achieved what I hoped for. I began asking Allāh for a long life, strong body and the achievement of my goals. The customs and habits of people renounced what I was doing and said: “No custom exists in what you seek.” I replied, saying: “I only ask from One who is able to go beyond customs.”

44 For verification of this, refer to: Ibn Kathīr, al-Bidāyah wa’l-Nihāyah, 13/29.

45 The İmām, Muḥaddith and Ḥāfiz, Muḥīd al-’Iraq, Abu al-Faḍl Muḥammad ibn Nāṣir ibn Muḥammad ibn ’Alī ibn ’Amm al-Salāmī from Baghdād (467-551). Al-Ḥāfiz ibn al-Jawzī benefitted in the field of ḥadith by accompanying this İmām as indicated by Dhaḥabī (Siyar al-’Alām al-Nubulā’, 21/367) and confirmed by al-Ḥāfiz ibn al-Jawzī himself (al-Muntaqam, 10/163). Al-Dhaḥabī also related this from him (al-Mīzan, 20/267), saying: “He said: ‘Our shaikh was reliable, a man of good memory and precision. He was from Ahl al-Sunnah wa al-Jama’ah and had not faults worth mentioning. He was responsible of hearing me. I heard the Musnad of Āḥmad and the major books in his reading and it was he whom I took the science of hadith from. He would remember Allāh a lot and was quick to shed tears.’ For his biography, refer to: Siyar al-’Alām al-Nubulā’, 20/265, Tathkīrat al-Huffāz, 3/1289, Manāqib Ahmad, 530, 531, Miṣrīt al-Zamān, 8/138, Thā’il Tabaqát al-Hanabīlā, 1/225-229, al-Bidāyah wa’l-Nihāyah, 12/233.
Ahmad] and other major works. All this time I had no idea of why I was made to do these things. My teacher recorded all I had heard, and when I reached puberty he handed me this record. I accompanied him till his death, and through him I learned the science of ḥadīth and transmission.

The kids used to go down to Tigris River and play on the bridge, but when I was small I used to take a book and sit far from people by the shore studying Sacred Knowledge.

Then I was inspired to abandon the vanities of this world so I began constant fasting and reduced my food intake to very little. I trained myself to be patient, embarking on a continuous pursuit in order to do so and staying up at night. I didn’t feel satisfied with studying just one science so I read jurisprudence, sermon delivery and ḥadīth and followed those who practiced ḥudūd (as-

46 May Allāh have mercy on Ibn al-Jawzī for he was serious about his studies in both his childhood and after growing up. He dedicated himself to learning and would not allow anything of his time to be wasted. He says about himself (Said al-Khāṭīr, 235): “During my pursuit of this quest for knowledge I would go through difficulties that, to me, were sweeter than honey due to what I was expecting to gain. When I was small I used to take some dry bread with me and go out to learn ḥadīth. I would sit by the ‘Īsā river, and as I was unable to eat the bread without washing it down with water, I took a sip after every bite. My ambition only allowed me to see the delight of learning. Due to that I became known for having heard much of the ḥadīth of Allāh’s Messenger and his conditions and ways along with the life of his companions and their followers. My dealings with the creation also elevated to a level that cannot be achieved except through knowledge. In my childhood and during the times of lust and being a stranger I could have done things that the soul desires like a thirsty man does cold water, and only the fear of Allāh caused by knowledge stopped me from doing them.”

47 He also said about himself (Said al-Khāṭīr, 37): “I am a man to whom knowl-ceticism). After that I studied linguistics.

There was not a narrating scholar or a preacher where I lived who I didn’t sit with and whenever such a person would arrive from elsewhere I would go to him. I used to choose of virtuous deeds what suited me and if I had to choose between two things I usually chose the right of al-Haqq (Allāh). He has planned my life and cultivated me in a beautiful fashion, guiding me towards what is best for me. He has protected me from my enemies, the jealous, and those who might plot against me. He has made everything convenient for my studies of Sacred Knowledge and sent me books from unexpected places. He gave me good understanding, the ability to memorize and write quickly and a talent for authoring books.

I lacked nothing of this world. As a matter of fact, things were quite the opposite as Allāh gave me more than enough. He put a great deal of acceptance of me into peoples’ hearts and made the impact of my words leave them not questioning the authenticity of what I had to say. Approximately 200 thimmis [i.e. people of the book who live in Muslim lands according to a truce contract]
Fear Allah and He Shall Teach You have become Muslim at my hands and over 100 000 sinners have repented in my gatherings. More than 20 000 men have announced their repentance from foolish ways during my exhortations.\(^{48}\)

I used to go around hadīth-gatherings of different scholars and run till I was out of breath so no-one would precede me. I would start my day having nothing to eat and finish it having nothing to eat. Never did Allah degrade me to take from another person, instead He provided for me in order to protect my honor. Truth is, mentioning all my experiences would take quite a while.

And here I am now and you can see what I have achieved. I will tell you the whole story in one single sentence, and that is Allah's saying:

\text{\textit{وَاتَقُواَ اللَّهَ وَيَعْمَلُواْ الصَّلَايَةَ}}

Fear Allah, and Allah shall teach you.

[\textit{Surah al-Baqarah} : 282]

\(^{48}\) His grandson Abū al-Muzfīr said in (\textit{Mirāṭ al-Zamān}, 8/482): 'I heard my uncle say: 'Through the two fingers of my hands I was the greatest whip in righting wrong. 100 000 people repented in my hands and 20 000 became Muslim.''' The number 20 had dropped from the print of \textit{Mirāṭ al-Zamān} but the checker of \textit{Siyar al-\'Alām al-Nubullā}, noticed it (21/370). He also said in (\textit{al-Muntazam}, 10/237): 'I preached in al-Halba in Ramadān and 120 people announced their repentance.' He also said in (\textit{Said al-Khāṭir}, 41): 'All my gatherings are attended by countless people who cry and regret their sins. Most times a group of people would get up to have the hair of their youth cut (which was a habit at that time when announcing repentance). They were often as big as 50 or 100 people and some days their number exceeded 100. Most of them were youth who had grown up playing games and immersing themselves in worldly and sinful matters.' Al-Ḥāfiz ibn Rajab says in (\textit{Thālī Tabaqat al-Hanabila}, 3/410): 'We can conclude that his gathering of exhortation had no equal and no-one had heard of anything similar. They were very beneficial sittings where the heedless came to remember, the ignorant came to know, the sinners repented and the polytheists became Muslim.'
CHAPTER FOUR

Benefiting from Time and Opportunities

TAKE HEED, MY SON, for your own benefit, and regret your previous shortcomings. Work hard to attain the company of those who have achieved perfection while you still have time. Water your tree while there is still some moisture left in it, and remember the time you have wasted for that indeed is a sufficient reminder. As time has passed, the delight of laziness has vanished and the levels of virtuous deeds have been missed. Indeed, our pious predecessors loved to enact every virtue and would cry out of missing just one.

Ibrāhīm ibn Adham⁴⁹, may Allāh bestow His mercy upon him, said: “We once went to visit a worshiper who was sick and found him crying, looking at his feet. We asked, ‘Why are you crying?’ to which he replied, ‘They did not become dirty in the path of Allāh.’ Another person cried, and they asked: ‘Why are you crying?’ He answered: ‘Due to a day that passed without me fasting it and a night that passed without me standing it.’”

Know, my son, that days consist of hours and hours are made of the breaths you take. Every breath is a treasure chest, so beware of letting a breath pass by with no benefit. You do not want to find an empty treasure chest on the Day of Judgment and regret. Indeed, a man once said to ‘Amir ibn ‘Abd Qais\textsuperscript{50}: “Stop, I want to talk to you”, so he said to him: “Hold the sun in your hands [i.e. stop time] so I can talk to you.”

Ma'rūf\textsuperscript{51}, may Allāh bestow His Mercy upon him, said to some

\textsuperscript{50}Imām Abū ‘Abd Allāh (and it is said: Abū ‘Amr) al-Tamīmī al-‘Anbarī ‘Amīr ibn ‘Abd Qais al-Baṣrī. Al-Ḥāfiz al-Dhahabī described him as: The example, the wāli and the ascetic. He is one of the eight leading Tablīn in asceticism. Ka'b al-Aḥbār once saw him and said: ‘This is the devotee of this nation.’ Qātada said: ‘When ‘Amir was on the verge of death he cried.’ He was asked: ‘Why are you crying?’ so he said: ‘I am not crying because I fear death or crave this world. It is the thirst of the midday heat and the standing at night that I cry for.’ He is said to have died in the time of Mu‘awiyah. (Refer to his biography: Ibn Sa‘d: \textit{al-Tabaqāt}, 7/103, Aḥmad: \textit{al-Zuhd}, 218, \textit{Hīyatu’l-Auliya\textdegree}, 2/87, \textit{Siyar al-A’lām al-Nubula\textdegree}, 4/15, ‘Alqama ibn Murthid: \textit{Zuhd al-Thamaniya min al-Tabi‘in}, p. 37-40.)

\textsuperscript{51}Ma'rūf al-Karkhi Abū Maḥfūz al-Baghdādī, described by al-Ḥāfiz al-Dhahabī as: ‘The authority of the ascetics, the blessing of our times.’ Al-Ḥāfiz Ibn al-Jawzī has gathered his virtues in a book that has been printed. He passed away in 200 AH. Imām Aḥmad said that he is a person whose \textit{du‘ā} is answered. ‘Abd Allāh ibn Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal said: ‘I said to my father: ‘Did Ma'rūf have any knowledge?’ to which he replied: ‘My son, he had the basis of all knowledge and that is fear of Allāh.’” (Refer to his biography: \textit{Tabaqāt al-Auliya\textdegree}, 280, 285, \textit{Tabaqāt al-Sūfiya}, 83-90, \textit{Tabaqāt al-Hanabīla}, 1/381, 389, \textit{Sīfūr al-Safwā}, 2/79-83, \textit{Hīyatu’l-Auliya\textdegree}, 8/360, 368, \textit{Siyar al-A’lām al-Nubula\textdegree}, 0/339, 345.)
people sitting with him: “Do you not wish to get up? Verily, the angel of the sun is dragging it and does not get weary [i.e. time is passing].”

The Prophet (ﷺ) said in a ḥadīth: “Whoever says: ‘Glory be to Allāh, the Exalted, and all praise is His,’ will have a palm tree planted for him in Paradise due to that”⁵² So just think about the number of palm trees you will miss by wasting time!

Our predecessors had the habit of making the most of every single second. Kahmas⁵³, for example, used to recite the Qur’ān

⁵³ Kahmas ibn al-Ḥasan al-Tamīmī, the Hanafite from al-Baṣra, the worshipper Abū al-Ḥasan, one of the major figures of the trustworthy. He was a pious worshipper who died in 149. An example of his plentiful worship is that he would pray 1000 units every day, and when he got weary he would say (to his soul): ‘Get up, you abode of all evil, for by Allāh I have never been pleased with you for Allāh.’ (Refer to his biography: Tathkīrat al-Huffād, 1/174, Siyara al-‘Alām al-Nubula, 6/316, Khulasat al-Ṭahthīb al-Kamal, 322, Taḥthīb al-Taḥthīb, 5408, Shadharat al-Thahab, 1/225.)

A beneficial note: It has authentically reported from the Prophet (ﷺ) that he forbade us from completing reading the Qur’ān in less than three days. This can be found in the ḥadīth of ‘Abd Allāh ibn ‘Amr: “And Allāh’s Messenger (ﷺ) said: ‘Complete reading the Qur’ān every month.’ He said: ‘I can bear more than that’ and continued saying that until he said: ‘Complete it every three days.’” (al-Bukhārī, 1978) He also said to ‘Abd Allāh ibn ‘Amr: “Read it in completely three times a day.

Forty of them would pray the morning prayer with the wudū of ‘Ishā. [i.e. they would stay up all night praying]\ seven days but not more than that.” (al-Bukhārī, 5054, Muslim, 1159, 184). As for the reports that mention how our noble predecessors used to read the Qur’ān in less than three days, we can only comment on that by conveying the words of the Ḥāfīz and virtuous critic al-Dhahabi when he related the words of Yahya ibn Aktham in the biography of the famous Imam al-Wakī’ ibn al-Jarrah (al-Siyar, 9/143): “I accompanied Wakī’ as a resident and a traveler and found him fasting all the time and completing the Qur’ān every day.” Al-Dhahabi said: “I say: This is very impressive worship but it is not ideal, coming from someone comparable to the Imams of Athariyya. This is because the Prophet (ﷺ) has authentically been reported to have forbidden us from continuous fasting and completing the Qur’ān in less than three days. The religion of Islam is ease and following the Sunnah come first. May Allāh be pleased with Wakī’, and where in any case is someone like him?” I say: May Allāh have mercy on al-Ḥāfīz al-Dhahabi for he was indeed a brilliant critic and deserved to be called the Imam of fair critics. May Allāh have mercy on this Imam and gather us all with the people of ḥadith. God knows I love him a lot for His sake.

51

May Allāh have mercy on Ibn al-Jawzī who said (al-Yawaqit al-Jawziyya, p. 28-29): “How excellent are the people who have abandoned sweet dreams, withdrawing from that for which they erected their feet for. Standing up to fatigue themselves in the dark, seeking a portion of the blessing. When the night comes they stay up, and when the day arrives they derive lessons from it. When they look at their faults they seek forgiveness, and when they think about their sins they cry and feel dejected. O dwellings of the beloved, where are your inhabitants? O places of sincerity, where are your residents? O spots of the pious, where are your people? O places of nightly prayer, where are your visitors? I have, by Allāh, traveled around and found these people extinct. Those who used to stay awake at night have gone away and the lovers of sleep are left. These times have sought eating of lusts to replace fasting.”
Rābi‘a al-‘Adawiyya used to pray the whole night, and when Rābi‘a al-‘Adawiyya, Umm al-Khair bint Isma‘il, the pious, covered, ascetic and God fearing worshipper from Basra. She is said to have lived for 80 years and died in 180 AH. The narration was related by al-Hāfiz al-Dhahabi by way of Ibn Abi al-Dunya: We were told by Muḥammad ibn al-Ḥusayn, I was told by ʿĪsā ibn Maymun al-‘Attār, I was told by ‘Abda bint Abi Shawwāl who used to serve Rābi‘a al-‘Adawiyya: ‘Rābi‘a used to pray the whole night. When morning would come she would lay down till the sky would turn to yellow. I used to hear her say: ‘My soul, how much do you sleep and till what time do you stand up? You might sleep for just a little and never get up until the Day of Resurrection.”

al-Hāfiz ibn al-Jawzi: al-Mutbish, p. 211: ‘Rābi‘a the worshipper used to get up to pray in the beginning of the night and say:

The lover has stood up for her hope
And her heart is about to fly away from joy

When the night was over she would say: “No! It has been taken away!” and recite:

The darkness is gone with its intimacy and concord
If only the night and its intimacy would come again

An important note: Rābi‘a al-‘Adawiyya is a pious woman of worship and asceticism who has been mistreated by the people. Some accused her of believing in hulul, and Allah’s refuge is sought, some claimed she held the belief of Ibāḥa and others denied that she had ever existed. All of this is wrong and unjust as great Imāms like Sufyān al-Thawrī and Shu‘ba have related things that render all these accusations false. Al-Hāfiz al-Dhahabī said (Siyar al-A’lām al-Nubula, 232/243): ‘Abū Sa‘īd ibn al-‘Arabī said: ‘As for Rābi‘a, people have learned much wisdom from her. Sufyān, Shu‘ba and others have related things about her that render the things said about her futile. What she was accused of was derived from the following words she had said:

I have indeed put you in the heart to speak to me
And have permitted my body to whoever wants to sit with me
Benefiting from Time and Opportunities

dawn came she lay down for a bit and then got up frightened, saying to herself: “Sleep in the grave is long.”

Some said she believes in ḥulūl based on the first line and that she believes in Ibāha based on the second.’ I (al-Dhahabi) say: This is exaggeration and ignorance. It may very well be that the person who said this is himself a person who believes in these things and wanted to use this poetry to support his disbelief just like they used the ḥadīth: ‘I will be the hearing that he hears with.’ I say: From the shameful traits of today’s Hululite Şūfis is their attempts to support their evidently deviant beliefs by forged and contradictory poetry and made up stories attributed to her. May Allah give us refuge and not forsake us! They have even authored a book about these things and mentioned things about her life that give goose bumps to any monotheistic Sunni Muslim. Even more ridiculous than this group of people are those who made a film about her, portraying her as a dancer in the early parts of her life and other such falsehood to drive people from their religion. May Allah misguide and humiliate them with this despicable and shameless discipline of theirs that keeps twisting realities. As for those who say she never existed, we ask them to think a bit about the sources of her biographies. They are all related by the great Imams of this discipline such as al-Dhahabi (Siyar al-Ālām al-Nubula‘, 8/242, al-Ibar, 1/278), Ibn Khalakān (Wafayāt al-ʿAṣyān, 3/215), Ibn al-Imād (Shatharat al-Dhahab, 1/193), Ibn Kathīr (al-Bidāyah wa-l-Nihāyah, 10/186), al-Khatib al-Baghdādi (Tārikh Baghdaḍ, 2/40) and Ibn al-Jawzī (Sifāt al-Safwa, 4/17-19). Al-Ḥāfīz Ibn al-Jawzī even dedicated a book for her virtues as mentioned by al-Dhahabi (Siyar al-Ālām al-Nubula‘, 8/242) and also named his oldest daughter and mother of his grandson Abū al-Muzfīr (the author of Miʿrāt al-Zamān) Rabi‘a. You can also see how he mentions occasions from her life in most of his books exhortation.
CHAPTER FIVE

What Can This Eternal Life be Bought With?

WHEN A PERSON THINKS about the life of this world before entering it, he considers it long. Likewise, when he thinks about it after leaving it, he sees a long period of time and knows that the stay in the grave is long. When he thinks about the Day of Judgment, he knows that its fifty thousand years long, and when he thinks about Paradise and Hell, he knows that they will never end. Now, when he goes back to look at the time spent in this world, lets say 60 years\(^{56}\), he can see that \(^{56}\) Abū Hurayrah (radiyAllāhu ‘anhu) has been reported to have said: “Allāh’s Messenger (ṣallallāhu ‘alayhi wa sallīhi ‘alayhi) said: ‘The lifespans of my nation are between 60 and 70. The minority will live beyond that.’” (al-Tirmidhī, 3550, Ibn Mājah, 4236, Ibn Hibbān, #2467- Mawārid, al-Ḥākim: al-Mustadrāk ‘alā’l-Ṣaḥāḥayn, 2/427) Al-Tirmidhī said: ‘Hasan gharīb.’ Al-Ḥākim said: ‘Ṣaḥīḥ by the conditions of Muslim.’ Al-Dhahābī agreed. Al-Ḥāfiẓ ibn Ḥajr said (Fath al-Bārī, 11/240): ‘Its chain is ṣaḥīḥ.’ Truth is that this ḥadīth is ṣaḥīḥ li ḍhātibī ṣaḥīḥ li ghayrībi due to another route with a ṣaḥīḥ chain as well with al-Tirmidhī (2331) who said: ‘Hasan gharīb.’ A wise man said: ‘Man’s age consists of four phases: childhood, youth, maturity and old age which is the last of them and usually occurs between the age of 60 and 70. During this time a man becomes evidently weak by deficiency and becom-thirty of it is spent sleeping, fifteen or so is spent in childhood and most of what’s left goes to chasing after desires, food and money. When he accounts for what is left, he finds that much of it is nothing but showing off and heedlessness. The price of eternal life is the hours of his life, but what is left of them for him to buy it with?!

= ing geriatric, and he should seriously dedicate all his time for the afterlife as being the energetic and strong man he used to be isn’t possible anymore.’ Al-Hāfiz mentioned this (al-Fāth, 11/240). I say: Think about the Prophet’s words: “May Allah pardon a man whose death He has delayed till the age of 60.” (al-Bukhārī, 6419, a marfū‘ report from the ḥadīth of Abū Hurayrah (radiyAllāhu ‘anhu).
CHAPTER SIX

Awakening After Heedlessness

MY SON, DO NOT LET YOUR PAST carelessness make you lose hope of achieving good, for many people have come back to wakefulness after long sleep. Shaikh Abū Ḥākim, may Allāh bestow His Mercy upon him, told me what follows: ‘When I was a child, I spent my time in idle play and did not pay attention to Sacred Knowledge. Then my father Abū ‘Abdullāh, Allāh bestow His Mercy upon him, wanted to talk to me and said: ‘My son, I will not be here for you forever, so take twenty dinārs, open a bread shop and make some money.’

57 The great exemplary scholar Abū Ḥākim Ibrāhīm ibn Dinār al-Nahruwānī al-Hanbali, one of the Imams of Baghdad, a godly ascetic, who was benevolent and forbearing. He was one of the greatest scholars in the field of inheritance. He established a school by Bab al-Azaj and in which he remained, worshipping Allāh. He preferred to be unknown, and was always content with his condition. He used to earn his bread as a tailor, taking only two coins for a garment. Some individuals attempted to anger him but to no avail, and he would serve the disabled and elderly with a joyful face. His hearing of hadith was correct. He passed away in 556. (al-Ḥāfiz al-Dhahabi: Siyar al-A’lam al-Nubulā’, 20/396. For his biography, refer to: Ibn al-Jawzī: al-Muntaṣam, 10/201, 202, 204, Thail Tabaqāt al-Hanabila, 1/231-241, Shatharāt al-Thahab, 4/176, al-Bidāyah wa’l-Nihāyah, 12/245)
I said: ‘What are you saying?’ So he said: ‘Open a cloth shop then.’ I said: ‘How can you say this to me when I’m the son of the judge of judges ‘Abdullāh al-Dāmaghānī?’ He replied: ‘But I do not see you seeking knowledge.’ I said: ‘Give me a lecture right now.’ He did so and I came forward to busy myself with knowledge. From thereon, I began taking the studying of Sacred Knowledge seriously so Allāh gave me success in that.”

A colleague of Abū Muḥammad al-Halāwānī, may Allāh bestow His Mercy upon him, told me the following: ‘My father died when I was 21 and at that time I was known for being idle. When I went to claim a house I had inherited from its inhabitants, I heard them say: the Mudbir, i.e. al-Rabit [he who abandoned the adornment of life] has arrived.’ Having heard this, I said to my-

58 The profound scholar, the mufti of ‘Iraq, the judge of judges, Abū ‘Abdullāh Muḥammad ibn ‘Alī ibn Muḥammad ibn Hasan ibn ‘Abd al-Wahhāb ibn Husawayhi al-Dāmaghānī al-Hanāfī (Dāmaghānī refers to somebody from Dāmaghān which is a big city between al-Rayy and Naisabūr). Al-Dhahabi said: “He was a person of nobility and great decency and has been compared to judge Abu Yusuf in his time. Among his children were Imams and judges.” He died in 478 and his son, the judge of judges Abū al-Hasan led his funeral prayer. For his biography, refer to: Tārikh Baghdād, 3/109, al-Bidāyah wa ’l-Nihāyah, 12/129, Shatharat al-Thahab, 3/362, al-Fawa’id al-Baḥṭyāyab, 182-183, al-Ḳāmil, 10/146, Siyar al-ʿĀlam al-Nubuḍ, 18/485, al-ʾIbar, 3/292.

59 The jurist ‘Abdu’l- Ṭahmān ibn Muḥammad ibn ‘Alī ibn Muḥammad al-Halāwānī, the jurist and Imam Abū Muḥammad ibn Abī al-Fath. Al-Munthirī said: “He was a Hanbali scholar and was versed in jurisprudence, Qur’ānic exegesis and ḥadīth.” Ibn Rajab said: “I saw something that was written in his handwriting which indicates that he has authored a major commentary on the differed upon issues. He has also written a 41 volume commentary on the Qur’ān which he has talked about.” For his biography, refer to: Ibn Rajab: Thābil Tabaqāt al-Ḥanabila, 1/221.
self: ‘Is this what they say about me?’ I went to my mother and told her: ‘You will find me in the masjid of Shaikh Abū al-Khaṭṭāb⁶⁰ if you need me.’ I accompanied him and did not leave except for delivering judgments. I then became a judge for a period of time.” I say: “I saw him delivering legal verdicts and debating.”

⁶⁰ The Shaikh, Imām and great God fearing scholar of the Ḥanbalites, Abū al-Khaṭṭāb Maḥfūz ibn ʿAbd al-Ḥādī al-Ḥasanī al-Kalwadānī at first, then al-Baghdādī later on (d. 510 AH). Al-Ḥāfiz al-Dhahabī said: ‘Abū al-Khaṭṭāb was a fine scholar. He was benevolent, truthful, well mannered and spoke extraordinarily eloquent Arabic. He was a smart man who narrated many ḥadīths and studied and recorded ḥadīth as well.’ Ibn Rajab said (al-Thail, 1/120): ‘Abū al-Khaṭṭāb was a great jurist who used to focus much on verification of matters. He has checked and investigated numerous matters of jurisprudence and legal theory and differs with the majority view of the Hanbalites in some issues.” After this he went on to mention many examples of that. For his biography, refer to: Siyar al-ʿAlām al-Nubulāʾ, 19/348, Ibn al-Jawzī: al-Muntazam, 9/190-193, al-Kāmil, 10/524, al-Ibar, 4/21, Mirʿāt al-Zamān, 8/41-42, al-Bidayah wa-l-Nihayah, 12/180, Thail Tabaqāt al-Hanabila, 1/116-127, Shatharāt al-Thabab, 4/27-28.
CHAPTER SEVEN

Methodology of Cultivation by Day and Night

MY SON, MAKE IT BINDING on yourself to get up at the beginning of Fajr, and do not converse about worldly matters. Our pious predecessors never talk about a worldly matter at that time at all.61 When you wake up, say: "Praise be to Allah who gave me life after having caused me 61 This was the way they used to do things back then. Hassān ibn 'Atiyya, one of the trustworthy Tāba'ī, would pray 'Aṣr and sit in the masjid, remembering Allāh till sunset (Siyar al-A'lam al-Nubulā', 5/467). Al-Ḥāfīz Ibn al-Qayyīm, the dutiful student of Shaikh al-Iṣlām Ibn Taymiyyah, says about his teacher (al-Wābīl al-Sayyīb, 39-40): "I was with him once when he prayed Fajr. After praying he remained seated, remembering Allāh, Most High, till it was almost midday. Then he looked at me and said: "This is my lunch, and if I do not nourish myself with lunch I will become weak." I say: One of the most important things a Muslim should do after the Fajr prayer is to turn completely to Allāh by remembering Him and reciting in the forenoon the words of remembrance established by the Sacred Law. He should make this remembrance a continuous habit and never leave it. Later on he can add other virtuous remembrance or Qur'ānic recital to this until sunrise. Refer to: Ibn al-Qayyīm, Ṭariq al-Hijratain, p. 271, 272, and our booklet Adkhār al-Sabāḥi wa al-Māsā'.

to die, and He shall resurrect us.”⁶² and “Praise be to Allāh who holds the sky from falling on the earth except by His permission. Allāh is truly benevolent and merciful to the people.”⁶³

Then get up to purify yourself and pray the Sunnah of Fajr⁶⁴, then go to the Masjid in a humble attitude and on your way say: “O Allāh! I ask You by the right that those asking have upon You and by the right of this walking of mine. I did not leave [my home] in arrogance and pride, nor to be seen or heard. I only left out of fearing Your anger and seeking Your pleasure. I ask You to pro-

⁶² Al-Bukhārī: Kitāb al-Da‘wāt, Chapter: “What should be said before sleep” (#6312) from the ḥadīth of Hudhaifah, Kitāb al-Da‘wāt, Chapter: “What should be said after waking up in the morning” (6325) from the ḥadīth of Abū Dharr, Muslim: Kitāb al-Dhikr wa‘l-Du‘ā, Chapter: “What should be said when going to sleep and laying down on the bed” (2713), (59), from the ḥadīth of al-Barāʾ ibn ʿĀzib. Al-Ḥāfiz said (al-Fath, 11/114): ‘“And He will resurrect us”: Meaning: He will bring us back to life on the Day of Judgement. The Arabs say: ‘Allāh nashara the dead’ meaning, ‘He gave them life and they lived.’”

⁶⁴ ‘Ā’ishah has been reported to have said: “The Prophet (ﷺ) did not take care of any voluntary act of worship the way he took care of the two prayer units of Fajr.” (al-Bukhārī, 1169, Muslim, 724, 94 (repeated). It has also been reported from ‘Ā’ishah that the Prophet (ﷺ) said: “The two prayer units of Fajr are better than this world and all that it contains.” (Muslim, 725, 96) In another report of his (725, 97): “They are more beloved to me than the whole world.”
tect me from the Fire and forgive me my sins. Truly, none forgives sins but You.”

Join the Salah on the right side of the Imam⁶⁶ and when you have finished the Salah, say the following ten times: “There is no deity worthy of worship but Allah alone without partners. His is all Kingship and His is all praise. He gives life and causes death.

⁶⁵ A weak hadith: Ahmad, 3/21, Ibn Mājah, 778, Ibn al-Sinni, 83. Al-Busayrī said (al-Zawā'id): ‘Its chain has a continuous chain of weak narrators.’ The hadith was also declared weak by al-Munthiri (al-Targhib) and Shaikh al-Islām (al-Tawassul wa al-Wasila). Refer also to: al-Albānī: al-Tawassul, p. 93-99, and Silsilah Ahādith al-Da'ifah, 24, where he has done a good job in clarifying the hidden defects of this hadith. This narration can be replaced by what has been related by Muslim (763, 191) from the hadith of Ibn ‘Abbās that mentions how he stayed the night in the house of his aunt Maymuna. In this narration he talks about the nightly prayer of the Prophet (ﷺ) and says: “The Mu'adhin announced the call for prayer - that is, the morning prayer - so he left to the prayer, saying: 'O Allah, put light in my heart and light on my tongue. Put light in my hearing and light in my sight. Put light behind me and light in front of me. Put light above me and light beneath me. O Allah, give me light.”

⁶⁶ Imām al-Bukhārī placed a chapter heading in Kitāb al-Adhān of his al-Sahih (79) called: “The right side of the masjid and the Imām”. Al-Ḥāfīz said (al-Fath, 2/213): “It is as if he is pointing here to what al-Nāṣā'ī related with a sahih chain from al-Barā‘a who said: ‘We used to like being on the right side of the Prophet (ﷺ) when we were praying behind him.’ Abū Dāwūd also related a marfu‘ hasan narration from ‘Ā’ishah: ‘Allāh sends praises on the right side of the rows and His angels pray for them.’ I say: Many people have abandoned these Prophetic traditions and virtues to the extent that I have seen with my own eyes how some of our brethren actually prefer the left side over the right side because the left one has air conditioners on it. Exalted is Allāh above the actions of those who waste the abundant good contained in Allāh’s praise for him in the highest gathering and the seeking of forgiveness of the angels for him.
In His hand is all good and He is capable of anything.”

After that, say subhanAllah ten times, alhamdulillah ten times and Allahu akbar ten times. Then recite the verse of the Footstool and ask Allah, Glorious is He, to accept your Salah. Then, remain seated and remember Allah, Most High, till the sun has risen. Then, pray what Allahu has written for you and If you can per-

69 A sahih narration: Ibn al-Sinn, 12, from Muhammad ibn Humair from Muhammad ibn Ziyad al-Albani from Abu Umamah as marfu' with the wording: 'Whoever reads the verse of the Footstool after every prayer, then nothing stands between him and Paradise except death.' Al-Munthiri said (al-Targhib, 2/261): 'Related by al-Nasawi and al-Tabarani with chains of which one is sahih. Our Shaikh Abu al-Hasan said it corresponds to the conditions of al-Bukhari and Ibn Hibban in Kitab al-Salah and authenticated it. Al-Tabarani added from some of its routes: {Qul hama Allahu ahd.} Its chain with this addition is good as well.' Al-Haithami said (al-Majtnd al-Zawd, 10/102): 'Related by al-Tabarani in al-Kabir and al-Ausat with different chains, one of them being good.' The hadith can be found with: al-Nasawi: 'Amal al-Yaum wa al-Laila, 100. It has a supportive narration in the hadith of al-Mughira ibn Shu'ba which was related by Abu Nu'aym (al-Hilyatu l-Awliyaa, 3/121) with a hasan chain. Al-Hafiz ibn al-Jawzi erroneously included this hadith in his al-Mawdu'at. For more details on the hadith, refer to: Zadu'l-Ma'ad, 1/303, 304, al-Shawkani: Tuhfat al-Dhakirin, p. 117, al-Albani: Silsilah Ahadith al-Sahihah, 972. A beneficial note: Shaikh al-Islam Ibn al-Qayyim said (Zadu'l-Ma'ad, 1/204): 'I have heard that our Shaikh Abu al-'Abbas Ibn Taymiyyah, may Allah give reverence to his spirit, said: 'I have not left it right after every prayer.'
form eight units, that is good.\textsuperscript{70}

\textsuperscript{70}This is based on the hadith of Ummu Hani’ Fakhita bint Abi Talib where she says: “I went to Allah’s Messenger (ﷺ) in the year of conquest and found him taking a bath. After finishing he prayed eight units and this was at forenoon.” (al-Bukhārī, 1176, Muslim, 336, 82) A narration of Muslim says (336, 71): “Then he prayed eight units of the forenoon voluntary prayer.” Al-Nawawī said (Shahīb Muslim, 4, 29): “This wording contains a delicate benefit and that is the units of the forenoon prayer are eight in number. The proof is derived from her words: ‘the forenoon voluntary prayer’ which clearly indicate that this is an established and known Sunnah which is not evident in the narration that says: ‘he prayed eight units and this was at forenoon.’”

A beneficial note: The forenoon prayer (Salāt al-Duḥā) is the prayer of the Awwabin i.e. those who are coming to their senses after heedlessness and those who are returning from sinning to repentance. It is ideally performed as eight prayer units and on a normal level as four or six. It is best to perform it at the hottest time of the day and at the rising of forenoon. Generally it can be performed at any time between sunrise and midday. Refer to: Ibn al-Qayyim: Zād al-Maʿād, 1/341, 360.
CHAPTER EIGHT

Sacred Knowledge Supersedes all Voluntary Actions

Once you have reviewed your lesson till forenoon, pray eight units of Salāt al-Duḥa [the forenoon prayer]. Then keep yourself busy with reading or copying texts till ‘Asr time. After ‘Asr, return to your studies until Maghrib time. After [praying] Maghrib, pray two units, reading two Juz’ of Qur’ān in them, and study again after praying the 71 It should be noted, may Allāh have mercy on us all, that the specified times and methods of voluntary worship (aurad) vary from person to person whether they are related to invocation, remembrance, reading the Qur’ān, beneficial knowledge or seeking forgiveness at night or day. Ibn Qudama says (Mukhtasar Minhāj al-Qāsidin, p. 82): “The traveler on the path to Afterlife is one of six: 1. a worshiper, 2. a scholar, 3. a student, 4. a man of responsibility, 5. a laborer, or 6. someone who has immersed himself in his love for Allāh and spends all his time in that.” After this the author began clarifying and arranging the preferred actions for each depending on their varying conditions. The things he mentioned are very important so do refer to it. As for Ibn al-Jawzī’s advice here, it should be known that it is directed towards a student of Sacred Knowledge who is able to dedicate all of his time for his studies with nothing to hold him back. And Allāh knows best.

Then lay down on your right side, say subhanAllah thirty three times, alhamdulillah thirty three times and Allahu akbar thirty four times. Say: "O Allah! Protect me from Your punishment on the day You shall gather Your slaves."
When you open your eyes after sleep, know that your soul has now taken its share. Get up, perform ablution and pray what you can in the darkness of the night. Open your prayer with two light units, and follow them with two units, reciting two Juz’ from the Qur’an in them. After that, start your studies, as Sacred Knowledge is better than all voluntary actions.

= he put his right hand under his cheek and said: “Allâh, protect me from Your punishment on the day You shall resurrect your slaves” three times. This narration was declared hasan by al-Hâfiz (Nata’ij al-Afkâr, p. 193). It has supportive narrations from al-Barâ’, Hudhaifah and Ibn Mas’ûd which raise it to the level of şâhîh, and Allâh knows best.

As for his guidance while being awake, he used to wake up when the rooster crowed, praising Allâh Most High, saying Allâhu akbar and lâ ilaha illallah and calling to Him. After that he would use the tooth stick (miswak), get up for ablution and stand in front of His Lord in prayer, conversing with Him through His speech, praising and hoping, desiring and fearing. Is there really anything better than this in preserving the health of one’s body and heart, spirit and strength and the enjoyment of this world and the hereafter? Refer to: Zad al-Ma’âd, 4/246.

This has been mentioned by many Imâms such as al-Zuhri, Sufyân al-Thaurî, Abû Hanifah and al-Shâfî’î. You should refer to Ibn Rajab’s explanation of Abû al-Darda’s hadîth (p. 96, 103) as he has analyzed this issue in it in academic and fair fashion. Every student should understand his words and follow them. He said: “The scholars have differed concerning this issue: Which one is better, studying Sacred Knowledge or performing voluntary prayers and reciting the Qur’an and words of remembrance? Knowledge is better for him who studies sincerely for Allâh’s sake and has a good and clear mind. However, this should still be joined with a good amount of prayers and worship. If you find him to be a serious student but notice that he’s lacking in his worship, it is a lazy and worthless person you’re dealing with, and this person is not truthful when he says his intentions are good. As for when one studies hadîth and fiqh simply as an intellectual pursuit, worship is better in such a case. In fact, the difference between the two is like the difference between the normative and superlative. This is a general categorization, and by Allâh, I’ve have only seen a few who are sincere in seeking this knowledge.”
CHAPTER NINE

Beware of Pitfalls and Obstacles

PRACTICE ISOLATION for it is the basis of all good, and beware of bad companionship, and let the books and reading about the lives of our predecessors be your companions.

Al-Imam al-Bukhari has a chapter in his Sahih called: “Isolation is a rest from mixing with bad people.” You should know that the differing of scholars here concerns the superiority of marriage and being single and that it depends on the person and his condition. One of the most important things one should pay attention to here is that an ignorant person isolating himself only harms him. A scholar was once asked: “What do you say about the isolation of an ignorant person?” and he replied: “Insane calamity.” He was then asked: “What about that of a learned one?” He said: “Why do you wish for it? Leave it, for it has its feet and water reservoir. It will drink water and eat the trees till its Lord meets it.” Al-Imam al-Khattabi has authored a great book on isolation and abridged the truth about this issue in the end (p. 117-118), saying: “The ideal here is that a person does not neglect any duties he may have towards others even if they don't ask him to perform them, and that he does not get involved in falsehood that is not binding on him even if they invite him. Indeed, whoever gets occupied with what does not concern him will miss out on what does concern him, and whoever gets busy with falsehood will become apathetic with truth. So be with the people in good and stay away from their evil, and aim to be a witness who is like he wasn't there and a learned man who is like an ignoramus.”
Do not delve into a science before mastering what comes before it. Read how the most complete of us used to seek knowledge and act accordingly, and do not be pleased with less than that. The poet has said:

In faults of men I have not seen anything
Like the shortcoming of the able in achieving completeness

Know also, that Sacred Knowledge raises the status of the lowly. Indeed, many scholars used to be unknown and unappreciated before becoming scholars. ‘Aṭā ibn Abū Rabāh,\(^79\) for example, was black and not pleasant looking. Sulaimān ibn ‘Abd al-Mālik,\(^80\) who was the caliph at that time, came to him with his two sons

\(^79\)‘Aṭā ibn Abū Rabāh Aslam. Al-Hāfiz al-Dhahabī said: “The Imam, Shaikh al-Islam and the Mufti of Haram, Abū Muḥammad al-Qurashi, their freed slave from Makkah. His loyalty is said to have been for people of Jumah. He was raised with al-Janad and grew up in Makkah. He was born during the caliphate of ‘Uthmān.’ ‘Aṭā was black, one eyed, snub-nosed, lame and limping and finally became blind as well. He was a trustworthy narrator, a jurist, a scholar, a narrator of many hadiths and was the most knowledgeable concerning the rules of pilgrimage. Refer to his biography: Ibn Sa’d: al-Tabaqāt, 5/467, Tahthib al-Kamal, 938, al-Ibar, 1/141, Siyar al-Ālām al-Nubulā’, 5/78, al-Bidāyah wa’l-Nihāyah, 9/306, al-‘Aqd al-Thamin, 6/84, Shatharāt al-Thahab, 1/147. The narration was related by: al-Khatib al-Baghdādi: al-Faqīh wa al-Mutafaqqīh, 1/31, who made this chapter heading regarding it: “Those who rose from being slaves to sitting in the gatherings of the kings.”

and asked him about the rites of pilgrimage. He answered whilst turning his face away from them. The caliph said to his sons: “Get up and do not be indolent or lazy in seeking knowledge, as I shall never forget this humiliation in front of this black slave.”

Al-Ḥasan, Ibn Sirīn, Makhūl and others were slaves as well, but were still given honor and attained high status through knowledge and fear of God.

81 Al-Ḥasan ibn Abī al-Ḥasan Yasar al-Baṣrī Abū Saʿīd, the freed slave of Zaid ibn Thābit, the example of ascetic scholars and one of the great characters of the Tabiʿīn. He died in 110. Ayyūb al-Sakhtiyānī said: “Had you seen him you would have said that you have never sat with a scholar of jurisprudence.” Abu Jaʿfar al-Bāqir said: ‘That is the person whose speech resembles that of the Prophets.’ Refer to his biography: Ibn Saʿd: al-Tabaqāt, 7/156, Ḥilyatuʾl-Auliyaʾ, 2/131, Ahmad: al-Zuhd, 2/225, Siyar al-ʿĀlam al-Nubūlāʾ, 4/563, Tathkiraṭ al-Huffāẓ, 1/66. Ibn al-Jawzī has dedicated a book for the life and virtues of this Imam which is printed and available.

83 Makhūl: the scholar of Syria. His name is Makhūl ibn Abī Muslim Shahrab ibn Shathīl ibn Sind ibn Shirwan ibn Yazdak ibn Yaghuth ibn Kisra. He was taken prisoner in Kabul but his master’s identity is disputed over, but the most correct of opinions is that he was the slave of a Huthali woman. He was from the middle of the Tabiʿīn and died in 112, 113, or 114. Abū Ḥātim said: ‘Nobody in Syria is as knowledgeable in jurisprudence as Makhūl.’ For his biography, refer to: Ibn Saʿd: al-Tabaqāt, 7/453, Ḥilyatuʾl-Auliyaʾ, 5/177, Tāḥthib al-Asmāʾi wa-l-Lughāt, 2/113, 114, Siyar al-ʿĀlam al-Nubūlāʾ, 5/155, Tathkiraṭ al-Huffāẓ, 1/107, al-ʾIbar, 1/140, al-Bidāyah wa-l-Nihāyah, 9/305, Husr al-Muhadara, 1/119.
CHAPTER TEN

Self Sufficiency

MY SON, STRIVE HARD TO PROTECT your honor from running after this world and having to lower yourself to its people. Be content and you shall live honorably. A saying goes: ‘Whoever is content with bread and vegetables will not be subjugated by anyone.’ A Bedouin once passed by Basra and said: ‘Who is the Master of this city?’ It was said to him: ‘Al-Ḥasan al-Ṭebīr.’ He said: ‘And how did he become their master?’ They said: ‘He had no need of their worldly effects but they were in need of his knowledge’.

Al-Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Rajab al-Ḥanbali said in his explanation of Abū al-Dardā’s ḥadīth (p. 150-152): “He who spreads his knowledge to the people and speaks to them must be very careful of not asking things from them. He must not be covetous for any of their wealth or provisions nor wish to win their hearts. He should just spread his knowledge and be content with not hoping anything from them through careful godliness. This is because greed of worldly matters and yearning them are ugly traits especially when found in a scholar.”

Ibn Rajab related this story while explaining the ḥadīth of Abū al-Dardā: ‘Whoever takes a path that he shall seek knowledge on...(p. 154)’ May Allāh have mercy on al-Ḥasan who said: “Everything has something staining it, and Know, my son, that my father was a rich man who left wealth worth thousands behind him. When I reached puberty, I was given twenty dinars and two houses and I was told it was all he had left. I took the dinars and bought books of Sacred Knowledge with them. I sold the houses and spent the money in my pursuit of knowledge. Nothing remained of the wealth I had inherited. Your father has never humiliated himself in his quest for knowledge nor has he gone around cities like other preachers have. He has never sent a note asking something from others and all his affairs are running smoothly:

For him who fears Allāh, He shall make a way out and provide for Him from places he could not expect.

[Sūrah at-Talāq : 2-3]

the stain of Sacred Knowledge is covetousness.” How excellent are the words of al-Imam al-Khattābî about al-Hasan al-BAshrî (al-'Uzla, p. 235): “Who will do the job today like al-Hasan with his sincerity of advice and moving admonishment? May Allāh rectify us and our rulers, for they are corrupt because of our sins.”

Al-Khaṭīb related from al-Shāfī`i with a șahīh chain (al-Faqīhu wa al-Mutafaqqīh, 2/94): ‘A student of Sacred Knowledge needs three qualities: long life, free hands, and intelligence.’ Al-Khaṭīb al-Baghdādi said: “What he means with long life is continuous dedication to knowledge. What he intends with free hands is that the students does not busy himself with a profession to earn money. If he makes himself content with what he has, he will not need most of these earnings. If Allāh Most High has given him intelligence, it is a sign of his happiness and quick achievement of his objectives.”
CHAPTER ELEVEN

True Fear of Allāh Results in all Good

My son, when fear of Allāh is real, you shall see all good. A person who truly fears his Lord does not care about others and does not put himself in a position where his religion is at risk. Whoever takes care of Allāh’s limits shall be taken care of by Him. Allāh’s messenger (ﷺ) said to Ibn ‘Abbās: “Safeguard Allāh and He will safeguard you. Safeguard Allāh and you will find Him in front of you.”

\[87\] Šaḥīḥ: Ahmād, 1/293, 303, 307, al-Tirmidhī, 2516. Al-Tirmidhī said: ‘A hasan sahih narration’ and it is as he said. It was authenticated by al-Albānī (Takhrij al-Sunnah li Ibn Abī ‘Asim, #316-317-318). The hadith has many routes. Al-Ḥāfīz Ibn Rajab has dedicated a great book to this hadith called Nūrul-Iqtibās fi Mishkāt Wasiyyah al-Nabi li ‘İbn ‘Abbās. cf the English translation of the Legacy of the Prophet (ﷺ) - An explanation to the Advice given to ibn ‘Abbās [trans. Abu Rumaysah, Dār as-Sunnah, 1429/2009]. Al-Ḥāfīz Ibn al-Jawzī ssaid (Said al-Khāṭir): “I pondered over this hadith but it confounded me and I almost felt helpless in solving it.” Then he said: “So unfortunate indeed is the ignorance concerning this hadith and the weak understanding of what it means.” So do refer to its explanation as it contains great exhortation and general principles of Islam that are among the most important and highly deemed issues of our religion.
Do not forget, my son, that it was the good deeds that Yūnūs had in store that saved him from hardship. Allāh Mighty and Sublime says:

Had he not been of them who glorify Allāh, he would have remained inside its belly till the day they will be resurrected.

[Al-Saffāt: 143-144]

It was also the evil deeds that Fir‘aun had stored for himself that rendered him unable to find an escape when disaster befell him. He was told:

Is it now you believe while having disobeyed before.

[Yūnūs: 91]

So store good deeds arising from taqwā for yourself and you shall see the results.

It was reported in a ḥadīth that the Prophet (ﷺ) said: “There is no youth who fears Allāh in his youth except that Allāh raises him in status when he is old.”

Allāh Most High says:

88 Refer to: Hilyatu‘l-Auliya‘, 4/139.
And when he attained manhood, We gave him wisdom and knowledge. Thus We reward the doers of good.

[Yūsuf: 22]

And

 Truly, he who fears Allāh and has patience, then surely, Allāh does not let the reward of the good doers be lost.

[Yūsuf: 90]

Know that the best actions you can store is lowering your gaze from the forbidden, not speaking without need, staying away from punishable deeds and preferring Him, Glorious is He, over your soul's desire. You are well aware of the hadith of the three who entered the cave and then the rock blocked its entrance. One of them said: “O Allāh, I had my parents and children. I used to stand by my parents with milk and let them drink from it before my kids. If I did that for Your sake, help us now.” One third of the rock moved away. The second one said: “Allāh, I hired a worker who wasn’t pleased with his salary, so I made business with it. Then, one day he came to me and said: ‘Will you not fear Allāh and give me my salary?’ so I said: ‘Go to those cows and the people who look after them and take them.’ If I did that for Your sake, help us now.” Another third of the rock moved away. The third one said: “Allāh, I was in love with a cousin of mine but when I approached her she said: ‘Fear Allāh and do not break the seal without right,’ so I got up, off her. If I did that for Your sake, help us now.” The whole rock was lifted and they were able to escape.”

Somebody had seen Sufyān al-Thaurī in his dream and he was asked: “What did Allāh do to you?” He replied: “I had only been put into the grave and there I was, in front of Lord of the Worlds. I entered and straight away met someone who said: ‘Sufyan?’ I said: ‘[Yes, I am] Sufyan.’ He said: ‘Do you remember a day you preferred Allāh over your desires?’ I said: ‘Yes’ [upon answering] I was immediately served with big food plates from Paradise”

90 Sufyān ibn Sa‘īd ibn Masrūq al-Thaurī Abū ‘Abd Allāh al-Kufī: The trustworthy Hāfiz, jurist, worshipper, Imam and proof (d. 261). He was the most ascetic person of his time to the extent that he would deprive himself of any worldly matters in his gatherings. It is said that no-one in his time feared Allāh like he did nor did anybody have his reverence of Allāh. Al-Hāfiz al-Dhahabī said (Tathkīrat al-Hufūz, 1/206): ‘The virtues of this Imām are mentioned in a full volume by Ibn al-Jawzī. I have abridged them and mentioned a fair share in my book al-Tārikh.’ The biography of this esteemed Imām can be found in *al-Hiyya,*6/356-7/144, in approximately 180 pages, Sīyar al-A‘lām al-Nubulā, 7/229, and Tārikh Baghda’d, 9/151-174.
CHAPTER TWELVE

The Lives of Our Pious Predecessors

YOU SHOULD AIM TO BE PERFECT and as motivated as man can be, as many people are restricting themselves either to isolation from worldly matters or studying Sacred Knowledge, and only very few combine complete knowledge with complete action. I have acquainted myself with the lives of the Tabi‘un and those after them and found the most complete of them to be four: Sa‘id ibn al-Musayyib,\(^1\) al-Hasan al-Basri, Sufyān al-Thaurī and Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal.\(^2\) may \(^{92}\) Imam Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal: The Rabbānī Imām, al-Ṣiddīqi The Second, the firm bearer of tribulations. He was put to test in the days of Caliph al-Ma‘mun concerning the calamity of Qur‘ān’s creation. He stood firm and did not answer the way he was told to, and by this earned a high position in this world and the Hereafter. Ibn al-Jawzi has dedicated a volume to his life and virtues, so refer to it.

Allāh be pleased with them. These were only men but they had high ambitions and determination which we are lacking. Many of our predecessors were highly motivated, and if you wish to learn about them just read through Sifat al-Safwa. You can ponder over the lives of Sa‘īd, al-Ḥasan, Sufyān and Aḥmad if you wish as I have dedicated a whole book for each one of them.

94 In his explanation of Abū al-Dardā’s ḥadīth “Who takes a path, seeking knowledge on it” (p. 52, 53), Al-Ḥāfīz Ibn Rajab described them as “The Rabbānī scholars, the scholars of Afterlife.”
CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Memorisation is Your Actual Capital

MY SON, you are aware that I have written a hundred books and from amongst them is al-Tafsir al-Kabir which consists of twenty volumes, al-Tārikh which is twenty volumes as well. The rest of them are big and small, some five volumes, some four, some three, some two, and some more or less. By authoring these books I have left you in no need of 95 The author is obviously talking about the amount he had written at that time, as the number of his works is greater than that. In fact, Shaikh al-Islām Ibn Taymiyyah counted them to be over 1000. Al-Dhahabi said: ‘I do not know a scholar who has written what this man has.’ You can refer to the titles of these books in Siyar al-A'lam al-Nubula and Tha'īl Tabaqāt al-Hanabila. Teacher ‘Abd al-Hamīd al-'Alujī has written a book called Mu'allafat Ibn al-Jawzī which was printed by Dar al-Jumhuriyya, Baghdad (1395 AH). Refer to that while keeping in mind that many books were printed after this book. May Allāh, Most High, give us success in bringing out this mighty legacy.

96 Al-Dhahabi said (al-Siyar, 21/368): ‘In tafsir he authored the large al-Mughnī and then abridged it to four volumes and entitled it Zād al-Masīr.’ Ibn Rajab said (Tha'īl Tabaqāt al-Hanabila, 1/416): ‘Al-Mughnī, the tafsir, consists of 81 parts, and *Zād al-Masīr fī Ilm al-Tafsir of four parts.’ The latter has been printed by al-Maktab al-Islāmī (1364 AH) in nine parts with the verification of Zuhayr al-Shāwīsh.
Memorisation is Your Actual Capital

borrowing books or focusing on writing them yourself. Therefore, you should focus on memorising, for memorisation is your main capital and using what you have memorised is your profit. Sincerely seek refuge in the Truth (Allāh) in both affairs and stay well within His boundaries. Allāh says:

إِنَّكَ نُصْرِي وَأَلَّهَ نُصْرُكَ

If you support Allāh, He will support you.
[Muḥammad : 7]

And:

فَأَذْكَرُوا إِنِّي أُذْكَرُكُمُ

Remember Me and I shall remember you.
[al-Baqarah : 152]

And:

وَأَوْفُوا بِعَهْدِي أَوْفُ يِنْهَدُكُمُ

Fulfill My covenant and I shall fulfill yours.
[al-Baqarah : 40]

Beware of just having theoretical knowledge without putting it into action, for those who accompany the rulers and associate with worldly people have turned their backs to enacting their knowledge which in turn has deprived them of the blessings and benefit it can bring.
CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Knowledge and Action are Intertwined

BE CAREFUL OF BUSYING YOURSELF with mere worship with no learning, as many ascetics and Şüfis have gone astray due to acting without knowledge. 97

Cover yourself with the two beautiful garments that will not make you famous among the material folks with their classiness, nor famous among the ascetics with their ruggedness. Take your-

97 Ibn 'Abd al-Barr (Jāmi‘ Bayān al-‘Ilm, p. 54), al-Khaṭīb (al-Faqih wa al-Mutafagqīh, 1/19) and Ibn Abi Shaibah (al-Musannaf, 13/470) related that 'Umar ibn 'Abd al-'Azīz said: “Who acts without knowledge harms more than benefits.” Ibn ‘Abd al-Barr (p. 215), Ibn Abi Shaibah (13/499) related also that al-Hasan al-Baṣrī said: “Seek knowledge in a way that does not harm your worship, and worship in a way that does not harm your knowledge. Who acts without knowledge harms more than benefits.” The great scholar Ibn al-Qayyim said (Miftāh Dār al-Sa‘āda, 1/82, 83): “A person who acts without knowledge is like someone who travels without a guide, and it is known that a person like this will more likely be destroyed than saved. In any case, even if we’d suppose that he would survive by agreement, his deed would never be considered as something praiseworthy. All men of intellect agree that the case is quite contrary. Shaikh al-Islam Ibn Taimiyyah used to say: “Who abandons the guide strays from the path, and none can be guided with other than that which the Messenger came with.”

self to account for every glance, word and step you take as you will be asked about all of it.

Those who hear you speak will benefit from your knowledge according to how much you yourself benefit from it. When a preacher doesn’t apply his knowledge his exhortation will flow off the hearts’ surface like water flows off a rock.98

So, do not ever preach without an intention and do not walk without an intention. Don’t even swallow a bite without an intention.99 All of this will become clear to you once you get acquainted with the characteristics of our predecessors.

98 Al-Khaṭīb al-Baghdādī related (Iqtīād al-‘Ilm al-‘Amal, p. 97) by way of Ja’far from Malik who said: “I read the following from the Torah: ‘When a scholar does not act upon his knowledge, his admonishment flows off peoples’ hearts like a drop of water flows off a rock” Ibn al-Jawzī said (al-Yawaqit al-Jawziyyah, p. 95): “Knowledge and action are twins whose mother is high motivation.”

99 You can read about intention and its importance: Jami‘ Ulum wa al-Hikam, p. 20, 21.
CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Some Excellent Books to Read

YOU SHOULD READ Minhâj al-Muridin\textsuperscript{100} as it can teach you the correct way of dealing with your Lord. Make it your companion and teacher. Also, read through Šaid al-Khâtir\textsuperscript{101} as it mentions occurrences that help you in rectifying your \textsuperscript{100} Ibn al-Jawzî has authored a book on how to deal with one’s Lord and his servants called Minhâj al-Qâsidin which he abridged from Ihyâ‘ Ulûm al-Din. He said in al-Qisâs wa al-Muthakkirin that the book discusses these methodologies, but it hasn’t been printed to this day. Its manuscripts are located in Paris (1295), Turkey (al-Fâtih, 2872) and al-Zahirîyyah (24-Tasawwuf). An abridgment of the book has been printed, however, I do not know whether Minhâj al-Qâsidin and Minhâj al-Muridin are one and the same or not. Allâh really knows best. Al-Ḥāfiz al-Dhahabi mentioned Minhâj al-Qâsidin being two volumes whilst Ibn Rajab said it consists of four.

\textsuperscript{101} Šaid al-Khâtir (Grasped Thoughts) is one of al-Ḥāfiz Ibn al-Jawzî’s books which is a record of grasped thoughts, affairs and ideas he had been thinking about that should really have been memorised so they would not be forgotten as mentioned in the preface of the book. According to al-Dhahabi, the book is four volumes and Ibn Rajab mentions that it consists of 65 parts. It has been printed by Dar al-Kutub al-Hadithiyyah with the verification of Muḥammad Ghazâlî, Maktaba al-Kulliyat al-ᾀṣhariyyah with verification by 'Abd al-Qâdir worldly and religious affairs. Memorise Jannat al-Nadhar as it gives you a sufficient grasp of jurisprudence. Spend time reading al-Hadā'iq and it apprise you of most of the ḥadīth and by reading al-Kashf you will know the hidden benefits of narrations in Bukhari and Muslim. Do not busy yourself with Qur'ānic commentaries written by non-Arabs, and in truth, after al-Mughni and Zād al-Masir you don't need any other commentaries at all. As for works on exhortation, I have collected for you what completely suffice you.

= Ahmad 'Atā who made some faulty statements in it that do not suite Al-Hāfīz Ibn al-Jawzi. The book has also been printed in Beirut with the verification of Sayyid al-Jāmili who wrote some incorrect comments and should have not have dared to write them on the book. May Allāh pardon us all. The book has also been printed by Dar al-Fikr, Damascus, with verification by 'Alī and Nāji al-Tantāwī, and there are also other prints.

102 Al-Hāfīz Ibn Rajab mentioned it in Dhail Tabaqāt al-Ḥanabila, 1/418, and said: 'It is al-Ta'qilqa al-Wusta.'

103 Al-Dhahabī said that it consists of two volumes and ibn Rajab said it is 34 parts. In the end of al-Qisās wa al-Muthakkirin, p. 372, Ibn al-Jawzi said that this book is Ghāyat al-Wā'iz. It has manuscripts in Dar al-Kutub al-Misriyyah.

104 Al-Hāfīz ibn Rajab mentioned it in al-Thail, 1/417, and called it al-Kashf fi Mushkil al-Sāḥihain (four volumes).

105 Al-Hāfīz Ibn al-Jawzi said (al-Qisās wa al-Muthakkirin, p. 371, 372): 'I have gathered books on tools of sermon giving, the likes of which non has authored before me. In the field of Qur'ānic exegesis polished from errors and void of fabricated ḥadīths I have Zād al-Masir fi 'Ilm al-Tafsir and al-Mughni which is the bigger of the two. As for book of exhortation, they are too many to mention, so I'll suffice with a few: Tabṣirat al-Muhtadi, Kanz al-Muthakkir, al-Lu'lu', al-Malih, al-Mudish, al-Mulahhib, Sabānajd, Nasim al-Riyād and al-Muntakhab. Some of these books suffice a sermon giver for the rest of his life, leaving him no need for rhetorical flourishes written by non-Arabs that are mostly senseless lies anyway.'
Mingle with others in a good way but at the same time be strictly isolated because isolation safeguards you from having to deal with bad people and preserves your dignity. A preacher, in particular, should not be seen behaving like common folks or spending time in the market place or laughing out loud. This is to make sure that people have a good opinion about him and lend an ear to him when he

106 Ibn al-Jawzi said (al-Said, p. 232): “I am unable to figure delight, dignity, honor, rest or well being that is better for a scholar than that attained in isolation. Through it he achieves physical and religious well being and earns a great status with Allāh and rest of the creation as well. This is because people do not appreciate a person who mingles with them, and that's why it is staying away from people that makes our Caliphs so venerated among the people. If the laypeople see a scholar giving leeway in some permissible matter their appreciation for him becomes less, so he must protect his knowledge and make them realize its value. Some of our predecessors have said: ‘We used to joke around and laugh, but once people began to follow our example I realized we shouldn’t do that.’ Sufyān al-Thaurī said: ‘Learn this knowledge and keep silent. Do not mix it with joking around lest the hearts spit it out.’" speaks. However, if you have no choice but to mix with them, control your temper and forebear others because once see their true mannerisms, you will be unable to mix with them.
Fulfilling the Rights of Others

Give everybody their due rights - wives, children and relatives. Observe every hour in your life and see how you spend it. Try not to use it except in the most honorable way possible. Do not waste your self and get in the habit of doing the best things and send something to the grave's chest that will make you rejoice when you get there:

O you who ran after the material life
Deluded by his hopes so long

Death will come to you suddenly
And the grave is the chest of deeds

Pay attention to the consequences of things as that will make patience with things you desire and dislike easy for you. If you sometimes find yourself neglectful of your duties, take your soul to the graveyards and remind it of the nearness of its departure from this world.

Plan your affairs - and Allāh is the true planner - and spend but not foolishly lest you become in need of others. Taking care of one’s wealth is a part of this religion, and “it is better to leave something for your inheritors than leaving them in need of others.”

A hadith says: “For you to leave your heirs wealthy is better than leaving them poor and begging from people.” Related by al-Bukhārī, 2742, Muslim, 1628, 75, from Sa‘d ibn Abi Waqqās.
CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

A Beautiful Closure

My son, know that we come from the sons of Abū Bakr al-Siddiq\textsuperscript{108} and our father is al-Qāsim Muḥammad ibn ‘Abdu’l-Rahmān ibn Abū Bakr ibn Muḥammad ibn Abū Bakr (raḍī Allāhu ‘anhu)\textsuperscript{109} whose life has been critically documented in Ṣifāt al-Ṣafwa. After him, our forefathers were businessmen so among the later family there hasn’t been anyone who has been given motivation to pursue Sacred Knowledge except me. Now your turn has come. Strive hard and do not fall short of my expectations of you for you. I have trusted your affair to Allāh, Glorious and Most High, and He alone I ask to grant you success in knowledge and its application.

This is what I was able to admonish you with, and with Allāh, Most High and Exalted, is all might and power.

Ever increasing praise be to Allāh, and may His blessings and peace be upon our Leader Muḥammad, as well as his Family and Companions.\(^{110}\) \(^{110}\) We ask Allāh to give us and rest of the Muslims benefit through this exhortation. May He forgive its writer and the one it was written to along with all those who read it and spread it. May he forgive the commentator and all those who call others to read it and encourage them to act upon its message. This commentary was finished on the blessed day of Friday in 1409 AH in the city of al-Isma‘iliyya. Praise be to Allāh, by whose blessing all good deeds come to be. May Allāh send praises on Muḥammad (ṣ) and his followers.

APPENDIX

Persons Cited in the Text

‘ĂISHAH: bint Abū Bakr as-Siddīq, the Mother of the Believers and most beloved wife of the Prophet (ﷺ). She reported many hadith from the Prophet and many Companions and Successors reported from her. She died in the year 58H.

‘ABDULLĀH BIN ‘ABBĀS: ibn ‘Abdul-Muṭṭalib ibn Hāshim ibn ‘Abd Munāf al-Qurashī al-Hāshimi, the cousin of the Prophet (ﷺ) and the interpreter of the Qur’ān. He was born three years before the Hijrah and was called the ‘Ocean of Knowledge’ due to his vast knowledge. He took part in the Jihād in North Africa in the year 27H and died in the year 68H.

‘ABDULLĀH AL-DĀMAGHĀNI: The profound scholar, the mufti of ‘Iraq, the judge, Abū ‘Abdullāh Muḥammad ibn ‘Alī ibn Muḥammad ibn Hasan ibn ‘Abd al-Wahhāb ibn Husawayhi al-Dāmaghānī al-Hanāfī (Dāmaghānī refers to somebody from Dāmaghān which is a big city between al-Rayy and Naysābur). al-Dhahabī said: ‘He was a person of nobility and great decency and has been compared to judge Abū Yūsuf in his times.
Among his children were Imāms and judges.' He died in 478 and his son, the judge of judges Abū al-Hasan led his funeral prayer. For his biography, refer to: Tārikh Baghdad, 3/109, al-Bidāyah wa'l-Nihāyah, 12/129, Shatharāt al-Dhabab, 3/362, al-Fawa'id al-Bahiyah, 182-183, al-Kāmil, 10/146, Siyar al-'A'lam al-Nubula', 18/485, al-'Ibar, 3/292.

‘ABDULLĀH BIN MAS'ŪD: ibn Ghāfil ibn Ḥabīb al-Hadhli Abū 'Abdur-Rahmān. One of the scholars amongst the Companions and he witnessed Badr and the following battles. He had many virtues and died in the year 32H.

‘ABDULLĀH BIN 'UMAR: ibn al-Khaṭṭāb al-'Adawi, Abū 'Abdur-Rahmān, the noble Companion and scholar. He reported many ahadith from the Messenger (ﷺ) and died in the year 73H.

ABŪ BAKR AL-ŠIDDĪQ: ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Uthmān ibn Āmir al-Qurashi. The first Khalifah of the Messenger (ﷺ), his companion in the cave, his closest friend and one of the ten promised Paradise. He was the first man to accept Islām and died in the year 13H.

ABŪ AD-DARDĀ': Uwaymir ibn Mālik ibn Zayd ibn Qays al-Khazraji al-Anṣāri. There is a difference of opinion concerning his name. He accepted Islām on the day of Badr and witnessed Uhud. He was from the Legal Jurists and ascetics of the Companions. He died in the year 32H.

ABŪ DĀWŪD: Sulaymān ibn al-Ash'ath ibn Ishāq ibn Bashīr, Abū Dāwūd al-Sijistānī, the Imām, Ḥāfīz and author of the famous Sunan. He died in the year 275H.

ABŪ AL-FADL IBN NĀSIR: The Imām, Muḥaddith and Ḥāfīz, Mufid al-‘Irāq, Abū al-Faḍl Muḥammad ibn Nāsir ibn Muḥammad ibn ‘Alī ibn ‘Amm al-Salāmī from Baghdād (467-551). Al-Ḥāfiẓ ibn al-Jawzī benefitted in the field of ḥadīth by accompanying this Imām as indicated by Dhahabī (Sīyar al-Aʿlām al-Nubuḍā, 21/367) and confirmed by al-Ḥāfiẓ ibn al-Jawzī himself (al-Muntazām, 10/163). Al-Dhahabī also related this from him (al-Mīzān, 20/267), saying: He said: ‘Our shaikh was reliable, a man of good memory and precision. He was from Aḥl al-Sunnah wa al-Jamaʿah and had not faults worth mentioning. He was responsible of hearing me. I heard the Musnad of Ahmad and the major books in his reading and it was he whom I took the science of hadīth from. He would remember Allāh a lot and was quick to shed tears.’ For his biography, refer to: Sīyar al-Aʿlām al-Nubuḍā, 20/265, Tathkīrat al-Ḥuffaz, 3/1289, Manāqib Ahmad, 530, 531, Miṣrīt al-Zamān, 8/138, Thail Tabaqāt al-Ḥanābila, 1/225-229, al-Bidāyah wa’l-Nihāyah, 12/233.

Abū Hurayrah: ‘Abdur-Rahmān ibn Ṣakhr ad-Dusī. His name is greatly differed over. He accepted Islām in the year 7H and reported the most ḥadīth from the Prophet () He died in the year 59H.

‘Alī Bin Abī Tālib: ibn ‘Abdul-Muṭṭalib ibn Hāshim al-Qurashī al-Hāshimi, the fourth Rightly Guided Khalifah and one of ten promised Paradise. He accepted Islām at the age of thirteen and was famous for his chivalry, bravery and knowledge. He married Fāṭimah, the daughter of the Prophet () and was martyred in the year 40H.

Al-Barāʾa Bin Mālik: ibn an-Naḍr al-Anṣārī. He witnessed Uhud and gave the pledge of allegiance under the tree. He was martyred in the year 20H on the Day of Tustor.

ABŪ HĀKIM IBRĀHIM IBN DINĀR: The great exemplary scholar Abū Ḥākim İbrahim ibn Dinār al-Nahruwānī al-Ḥanbalī, one of the Imāms of Baghdād, a godly ascetic, who was benevolent and forbearing. He was one of the greatest scholars in the field of inheritance. He established a school by Bāb al-Aẓaj inqata’ā bihā yata’abbadu. He preferred to be unknown, and was always content with his condition. He used to earn his bread as a tailor, taking only two coins for a garment. Some individuals attempted to anger him but to no avail, and he would serve the disabled and old timers with a joyful face. His hearing of hadlth was correct. He passed away in 556 AH. (al-Ḥāfiẓ al-Dhahabi: Siyar al-Aʿlām al-Nubula, 20/396. For his biography, refer to: Ibn al-Jawzi: al-Muntaqam, 10/201, 202, Thail Tabaqāt al-Ḥanabila, 1/231-241, Shatharat al-Thahab, 4/176, al-Bidyah wa’l-Nihayah, 12/245)

ABŪ AL-KHATTĀB: The Shaikh, Imam and great God fearing scholar of the Ḥanbalites, Abū al-Khaṭṭāb Maḥfūz ibn Aḥmad ibn Ḥasan ibn Ḥasan al-‘Irāqī al-Kalwadhānī at first, then al-Baghdādī later on (d. 510 AH). Al-Ḥāfiẓ al-Dhahabī said: ‘Abū al-Khaṭṭāb was a fine scholar. He was benevolent, truthful, well mannered and spoke extraordinarily eloquent Arabic. He was a smart man who narrated many aḥādith and studied and recorded ḥadīth as well.’ Ibn Rajab said (al-Thail, 1/120): ‘Abū al-Khaṭṭāb was a great jurist who used to focus much on verification of matters. He has checked and investigated numerous matters of jurisprudence and legal theory and differs with the majority view of the Ḥanbalites in some issues.’ After this he went on to mention many examples of that. For his biography, refer to: Siyar al-Aʿlām al-Nubula, 19/348, Ibn al-Jawzi:
SINCERE COUNSEL

ABŪ MUḤ AMMAD AL-HALĀWĀNI: The jurist ‘Abdu’l-Rahmān ibn Muḥammad ibn ‘Alī ibn Muḥammad al-Halāwānī, the jurist and Imam Abu Muḥammad ibn Abī al-Fath. Al-Munthirī said: ‘He was one of scholars of the Hanbalites and was versed in jurisprudence, Qur’ānic exegesis and ḥadīth.’ Ibn Rajab said: ‘I saw something that was written in his handwriting and that indicates that he has authored a major commentary on the differed upon issues. He has also written a 41 volume commentary on the Qurʾān which he has talked about.’ For his biography, refer to: Ibn Rajab: Thail Tabaqāt al-Ḥanabila, 1/221.

AHMAD IBN HANBAL: Ibn Hilāl ash-Shaybānī, Abū ‘Abdullāh, the Imām of the Sunnah and author of the famous Musnad. He was known for his knowledge of ḥadīth, fiqh, and his taqwā and asceticism. He was put to test in the days of Caliph al-Ma‘mūn concerning the calamity of Qurʾān’s creation. He stood firm and did not answer the way he was told to, and by this earned a high position in this world and the Hereafter. Ibn al-Jawzī has dedicated a volume to his life and virtues, so refer to it. He died in the year 241H.

‘ĀMIR IBN ‘ABD QAIS: Imām Abū ‘Abd Allāh (and it is said: Abū ‘Amr) al-Tamīmī al-‘Anbarī ‘Amir ibn ‘Abd Qais al-BAṣrī. Al-Ḥāfiz al-Dhahabī described him as: The example, the wali and the ascetic. He is one of the eight leading Tabīʾin in ascetism. Ka‘b al-Ahbar once saw him and said: ‘This is the devotee of this nation.’ Qātada said: ‘When ‘Amir was on the verge of death he cried.’ He was asked: ‘Why are you crying?’ so he said: 'I am not crying because I fear death or crave this world. It is the thirst of the midday heat and the standing at night that I cry for.' He is said to have died in the time of Mu'awiyah. (Refer to his biography: Ibn Sa'd: al-Tabaqāt, 7/103, Ahmad: al-Zuhd, 218, Ḥiyyatu'l-Auliya‘, 2/87, Siyar al-`Ālam al-Nubulā‘, 4/15, 'Alqama ibn Murthid: Zuhd al-Thamaniya min al-Tabī‘in, p. 37-40.)

'ĀTĀ IBN ABŪ RABĀḤ: 'Āṭā ibn Abū Rabāḥ Aslam. Al-Ḥāfiẓ al-Dhahabī said: 'The Imām, Shaikh al-Islām and the Mufti of Harām, Abū Muḥammad al-Qurāshī, their freed slave from Makkah. His loyalty is said to have been for people of Jumāḥ. He was raised with al-Janad and grew up in Makkah. He was born during the caliphate of 'Uthmān.' 'Āṭā was black, one eyed, snub-nosed, lame and limping and finally became blind as well. He was a trustworthy narrator, a jurist, a scholar, a narrator of many Hadeeths and was the most knowledgeable concerning the rules of pilgrimage. Refer to his biography: Ibn Sa'd: al-Tabaqāt, 5/467, Tadhib al-Kamāl, 938, al-Ṭabar, 1/141, Siyar al-`Ālam al-Nubulā‘, 5/78, al-Bidāyah wa'l-Nihāyah, 9/306, al-ʿAqd al-Thamīn, 6/84, Shatharat al-Tabāhah, 1/147. The narration was related by: al-Khaṭīb al-Baghdādī: al-Faqih wa al-Mutafaqqih, 1/31, who made this chapter heading regarding it: 'Those who rised from being slaves to sitting in the gatherings of the kings.'

BUKHĀRĪ: Muḥammad bin Ismā‘īl bin Ibrāhīm bin al-Mughīrah, Abū 'Abdullāh. He was born in the year 194H and became one of the Imāms of ḥadīth and was nicknamed 'The Leader of the Believers in Ḥadīth.' He died in the year 256H.

AL-ḤASAN IBN ABŪ'L-ḤASAN AL-BĀṢRĪ ABŪ SA‘ĪD: The freed slave of Zayd ibn Thābit, the example of ascetic scholars and one of the great characters of the Tabi‘īn. He died in 110. Ayyūb al-Sakhtiyānī said: ‘Had you seen him you would have said that you have never sat with a scholar of jurisprudence.’ Abu Ja‘far al-Bāqir said: ‘That is the person whose speech resembles that of the Prophets.’ Refer to his biography: Ibn Sa‘d: al-Tabaqāt, 7/156, Hilyatul-Auliya’, 2/131, Aḥmad: al-Zuhd, 2/225, Siyar al-A‘lām al-Nubulā’, 4/563, Tathkīrat al-Ḥuffāẓ, 1/66. Ibn al-Jawzī has dedicated a book for the life and virtues of this Imam which is printed and available.

IBRĀHĪM IBN ADHAM: The exemplary Imām, the knower and the master of ascetics, Abū Ishaq al-‘Ajlı al-Khurāsānī al-Bakhlī, the resident of Syria (approximately 100-662). Abu Nu‘aym said: ‘I heard Sufyān say: ‘Ibrāhīm ibn Adham resembled Ibrāhīm al-Khalīl. Had he been a Sahābi he would have surely been a virtuous man.’” His biography can be found in Hilyatul-Auliya’ (7/367-8/58), Tabaqāt al-Auliya’ (5/15), Siyar al-A‘lām al-Nubulā’ (7/387), Ibn Athir’s al-Kamil (6/56), al-Bidāyah wa’l-Nihāyah (10/135-145) and Shatharat al-Thabab (1/255-256).

KAHMAS IBN AL-ḤASAN AL-TAMĪMĪ: The Hanafite from al-Ṭā‘rīf, the worshipper Abū al-Ḥasan, one of the major figures of the trustworthy. He was a pious worshiper who died in 149. From the examples of his plentiful worship is that he would pray 1000 units every day, and when he got weary he would say (to his soul): ‘Get up, you abode of all evil, for by Allāh I have never been pleased with you for Allāh.’ (Refer to his biography: Tathkirat al-Ḥuffāẓ, 1/174, Siyar al-Ālām al-Nubulā’ 6/316, Khulasa al-Taḥthib al-Kamal, 322, Taḥthib al-Taḥthib, 5408, Shatharāt al-Dhahab, 1/225.)

MAKHŪL: the scholar of Syria. His name is Makhūl ibn Abī Muslim Shahrab ibn Shathil ibn Sind ibn Shirwan ibn Yaghuth ibn Kisra. He was taken prisoner in Kabul but his master’s identity is disputed over, but the most correct of opinions is that he was the slave of a Huthali woman. He was from the middle of the Tabi’in and died in 112, 113, or 114. Abū Ḥātim said: ‘Nobody in Syria is as knowledgeable in jurisprudence as Makhūl.’ For his biography, refer to: Ibn Sa‘d: al-Tabaqāt, 7/453, Hilyatu’l-Auliya’, 5/177, Taḥthib al-Asmā’i wa al-Lughāt, 2/113, 114, Siyar al-Ālām al-Nubulā’, 5/155, Tathkirat al-Ḥuffāẓ, 1/107, al-‘Ibar, 1/140, al-Bidāyah wa’l-Nihāyah, 9/305, Husn al-Muhadara, 1/119.

MAʿRŪF AL-KARKHĪ: Abū Mahfūz al-Baghdādī described by al-Ḥāfiẓ al-Dhahabī as: ‘The authority of the ascetics, the blessing of our times.’ Al-Ḥāfiẓ Ibn al-Jawzī has gathered his virtues in a book that has been printed. He passed away in 200 AH. Imām ʿAbd Allāh ibn Ḥanbal said: ‘My son, he had the basis of all knowledge and that is fear of Allāh.” (Refer to his biography: Ṭabaqāt al-Auliya’, 280, 285, Ṭabaqāt al-Sūfīyya, 83-90, Ṭabaqāt al-Ḥanabila, 1/381, 389, Sīfāt al-Safwā, 2/79-83, Hilyatu’l-Auliya’, 8/360, 368, Siyar al-Ālām l-Nubulā’, (0/339, 345.)

MUḤAMMAD IBN SĪRĪN: The Imām and Shaikh al-Islām, Abū

MUSLIM: Ibn al-Ḥajjāj ibn Muslim al-Qushayrī, Abū al-Ḥusayn an-Nāṣibūrī, the Ḥāfiz and one of the great Imāms of this nation. He is the author of the Šāhīh which is the most authentic book of ḥadīth after Bukhārī. He died in the year 261H.

AN-NĀṢĪ: Abu ‘Abdur-Rahmān Aḥmad ibn Shu‘ayb ibn ‘Ali al-Khurāsānī The author of the famous Sunan, the mujahid and Ḥāfiz. He was known for his strictness in grading ḥadīth narrators.

SUFYAN IBN SA‘ID: Sufyān ibn Sa‘īd ibn Masrūq al-Thawrī Abū ‘Abd Allāh al-Kufī: The trustworthy Ḥāfiz, jurist, worshiper, Imām and proof (d. 261). He was the most ascetic person of his time to the extent that he would deprive himself of any worldly matters in his gatherings. It is said that no-one in his time feared Allāh like he did nor did anybody have his reverence of Allāh. Al-Ḥāfiz al-Dhahabī said (Tathkirat al-Huffāẓ, 1/206): ‘The virtues of this Imām are mentioned in a full volume by Ibn al-Jawzī. I have abridged them and mentioned a fair share in my book al-Tārikh.’ The biography of this esteemed Imām can be found in al-Hilya, 6/356-7/144, in approximately 180 pages, Siyar al-A'lam al-Nubula, 7/229, and Tārikh Baghdad, 9/151-174.

RĀBI’Ā AL-‘ADAWĪYYA: Umm al-Khayr bint Isma‘īl, the pious, covered, ascetic and God fearing worshipper from Basra. She is said to have lived for 80 years and died in 180 AH. The narration was related by al-Ḥāfīz al-Dhahabī by way of Ibn Abī al-Dunya: We were told by Muḥammad ibn al-Ḥusayn, I was told by ʿĪsā ibn Maymun al-ʿAttār, I was told by ʿAbdā bint Abī Shawwāl who used to serve Rābiʿa al-ʿAdwīyya: ‘Rābiʿa used to pray the whole night. When morning would come she would lay down till the sky would turn to yellow. I used to hear her say: ‘My soul, how much do you sleep and till what time do you stand up? You might sleep for just a little and never get up until the Day of Resurrection.’” See (Siyar al-Aʿlām al-Nubula, 8/242, al-ʿIbar, 1/278), Ibn Khalakān (Wafayāt al-Aʿyān, 3/215), Ibn al-ʿImād (Shatharāt al-Dhahab, 1/193), Ibn Kathīr (al-Bidayah wa-l-Nihāyah, 10/186), al-Khāṭīb al-Baghdādi (Tārikh Baghdād, 2/40) and Ibn al-Jawzī (Sifat al-Safwa, 4/17-19). Al-Ḥāfīz Ibn al-Jawzī even dedicated a book for her virtues as mentioned by al-Dhahabī (Siyar al-Aʿlām al-Nubula, 8/242) and also named his oldest daughter and mother of his grandson Abū al-Muzāfir (the author of Miʿrāt al-Zamān) Rābiʿa.

Index of Arabic Words

AWLIYÁ': plural of wali; friend, ally, loyal companion. From the word wilāyah meaning loyalty and closeness, the opposite of enmity.

BARZAKH: barrier, isthmus, A barrier that is erected between the deceased and this life preventing him from returning and a generic reference to the life that commences after death.

BID'AH: innovation, that which is newly introduced into the religion of Allāh.

DA'IF: weak; the hadith that is neither ṣaḥīḥ nor ḥasan because it fails to meet one of their requirements. It is of varying degrees of severity, the most severe of which being maudūt, fabricated.

DHIKR: remembrance, recollection, technically referring the remembrance of Allāh.

DU'Ā: supplication, invocation, it is an action of worship that may only be directed to Allāh. It is of two types, supplication through worship (du'ā 'ibādah) and supplication of request (du'ā mas'alah). The first type of du'ā can be understood when one understands that every act of worship is done with the unstated plea that Allāh accept that action of worship and the desire to draw closer to him; and hence attain His pleasure. Hence every action of worship is a type of request to Allāh. The second type of du'ā is whereby one explicitly asks his Lord of something such as ‘O Allāh! Grant me good in this world and the Hereafter.’ The second type includes the first type and the first type necessitates the second type.

HADĪTH: A text attributed to the Prophet (ﷺ) describing his actions, words, descriptions and tacit approvals. It consists of two portions, the body of the text (matn) and the isnād. Rarely the term is also used to refer to a text attributed to a Companion or a Tābi‘ī.

ḤASAN: good, fair. A ḥadīth whose isnād is continuously linked of just, morally upright narrators but whose precision (dabf) falls short of the requirements of the ṣahīh hadīth; containing no irregularity (ṣhādīh) and no hidden defect (‘illah). A ḥadīth can be ḥasan in and of itself, or contain a defect but still be ruled to be so due to supporting evidences.

IHSĀN: beneficence, excellence. To worship Allāh as if one is seeing Him, and knowing that even though one sees Him not, He sees the servant.

‘ILM: knowledge.

ĪMĀN: The firm belief, complete acknowledgement and acceptance of all that Allāh and His Messenger have commanded to have faith in, submitting to it both inwardly and outwardly. It is the acceptance and belief of the heart that includes the actions of the heart and body, therefore it encompasses the establishment of the whole religion. This is why the Imāms and Salaf used to say, ‘Faith is the statement of the heart and tongue, action of the heart, tongue and limbs.’ Hence it comprises statement, action and belief, it increases through obedience and decreases through disobedience. It includes the beliefs of faith, its morals and manners and the actions demanded by it.

ISLĀM: submission, submitting to the will of Allāh through following His law as revealed upon the tongue of the Messenger (ﷺ).

ISNĀD: support. The chain of authorities on which a narration is based, linking the end narrator of a narration to the one it is attributed to, be it the Prophet (ﷺ) or anyone else, narrator by narrator.

JĀHILIYYAH: Pre-Islamic Ignorance. Technically this refers to the condition of a people before the guidance of Allāh reaches them, or the state of a people that prevents them from accepting the guidance of Allāh.

JAHL: ignorance.

KALĀM: speech, discourse. Technically used to refer to dialectics and scholastic theology.

KHALAF: successors. A reference to those who followed a path other than the path of the Salaf.

KHALIFA: pl. khulafa'. Successor, representative. The Successors of the Prophet (ﷺ), head of the Islamic state. Also called Amir al-Mu'minin or Leader of the Believers.

KUFR: denial, rejection, hiding, technically referring to disbelief. It can be major (removing a person from the fold of Islam) or minor (not removing a person from the fold of Islam).

QADR: Divine Decree and Destiny.

QUR'AN: The actual Word of Allāh revealed to the Prophet (ﷺ) in the Arabic language through the medium of the Angel Gabriel and the greatest miracle bestowed him. It consists of 114 chapters commencing with al-Fātiḥah and ending with an-Nās.

RUQYA: recitation used to cure an illness or disease. It can only be done in the Arabic tongue, in words whose meaning is understood, using verses of the Qur'ān or supplications of the Prophet combined with the belief that it is only Allāh who in reality gives the cure.

SABR: patience and steadfastness, the restraint of oneself to that which is dictated by the divine law. It is of three levels, steadfastness in the obedience of Allāh, steadfastness in avoiding the prohibited matters and patience at the onset of calamity. Ikhlas can never be complete without sidq and sidq can never be complete without ikhlas and the two can never be complete without sabr. The person is patient through Allāh, i.e. seeking His aid Alone; for Allāh, i.e. arising out of love for Him and the desire to draw close to Him; and with Allāh, i.e. doing only that which He wills.

SAHABAH: The Companions of the Prophet (ﷺ), those who saw him, believed in him and died upon that belief.

SAHĪH: correct, authentic. A hadith which has a continuously linked isnād, of just, morally upright and precise narrators; containing no irregularity (shādīb) or hidden defect (‘illah). Hence five conditions have to be met: the isnād being continuously linked; the justice (‘adl) of the narrator; the precision (daḥīt) of the narrator; its not being shâdh; and its not containing an ‘illaah. The ḥadîth can be ṣâhih in and of itself, or it can contain a defect but still be ruled to be ṣâhih due to supporting evidences.

SALAF: predecessors. Technically used to refer to the best generations of Muslims, the first three generation: the Sahâbah, the Ṭab‘i‘în and the Tab‘ Tâbi‘în due to the ḥadîth, ‘The best of people are my generation, then the one that follows, then the one that follows.’

SHIRK: association, technically referring to directing a right that is due to Allâh Alone to another object of creation, either completely or partially. It can be major (removing a person from the fold of Islâm) or minor (not removing a person from the fold of Islâm).

SUNNAH: way, path. The actions, words, descriptions, commands, prohibitions and tacit approvals of the Prophet (ﷺ).

ṬĀBI‘ĪN: The generation following that of the Companions.

TAB‘ TĀBI‘ĪN: The generation following that of the Tâbi‘în.

TAQWÂ: the basic meaning of which is setting a barrier between two things. This is why it is said that one ittaqâ with his shield, i.e. he set it as a barrier between him and the one who wished him evil. Therefore it is as if the one who has taqwa (muttaqi) has used his following the commands of Allâh and avoiding His prohibitions as a barrier between himself and the Punishment. Hence he has preserved and fortified himself against the punishment of Allâh through his obeying Him.

ṬARQ: the practice of divination through drawing lines in the earth or equally the practice of throwing gravel onto the ground and divination by the shapes subsequently formed therein.

TAWHĪD: unification, monotheism, the belief in the absolute Oneness of Allâh. It is to believe that Allâh Alone is the creator, nourisher, and sustainer of the worlds; it is to believe that Allâh Alone deserves to be worshipped; and it is to believe that He has unique and perfect Names and Attributes that far transcend anything that one can imagine.

TIYARAH: seeing bad omens in things.

WAḤDATU-L-WUJÛD: The unity of existence, the heretical belief that Allâh is everywhere and everything.
